COUNCILMEN IN SESSION

Considerable Work Done by Our Borough Dads on Monday Evening.

STREET CROSSINGS ARE TRUMP

New Ones Being Applied for at Every Meeting—Village Improvement Committee Was Heard From for the First Time.

Council convened in regular session on Monday evening with President Brockerhoff and Members Lowery, Shaffer, Kellar, Valentine, Williams and Gerberick in attendance.

Clerk Isaac Mitchell read the minutes of the previous meeting, which were adopted as read.

A written communication was then read. It was a petition from the residents of Howard street asking that a crossing be put down on Allegheny street from the Curtin property to that of W. S. Zeller.

Monroe Armor appeared and complained of the condition of Armor street. He also asked that Council give a grade of East Linn stree from Wilson street to the Borough line.

Borough Engineer Wetzel appeared and asked Council for instructions in regard to his making a map of the Borough of Bellefonte. Mr. Wetzel said that he was having trouble with the boundary lines and that in some places they did not come together. He also said that he had discovered that the Poor House and the Gross property are both out of the Borough lines, although they have always been thought to be inside.

Borough Solicitor Dale appeared before Council and stated that the President of the Village Improvement Society had called on him in reference to the large bill boards on Water street near the laundry. Mr. Dale said that he had called on Geo. T. Bush to see about the matter and was informed in a very impudent manner that if the bill boards were removed that he would sue the Borough authorities as trespassers.

The street committee reported that since the last meeting considerable work had been done on East Logan and East Bishop streets. A new plank crossing has been put down on Linn street between the residences of S. B. Miller and C. M. Bower. A plank crossing has also been put down on the South side of Howard street. A sewer has been constructed on North Bishop street at the junction of Wilson street, and also one at the entrance of the Catholic cemetery.

The Water committee reported the work on the Bishop street water pipes finished and giving perfect satisfaction. New tubes have been put in the boilers at the Water Works. Owing to the extravagant use of water throughout the town, it was necessary to run the pumps sixteen hours for several days.

The Market committee reported $2.20 received from Thomas Shaughensy, market clerk.

The Nuisance committee stated that E. K. Rhoads had made complaint to them about the condition of the McCoy hill, saying that debris has been dumped there and that it is offensive to passers-by.

The Village Improvement committee reported that they had been met by a delegation of ladies, who are anxious to abate the many nuisances of the town which destroy its beauty. Great stress was laid on the matter of loose paper on the streets. The ladies said that they had met with rebuffs at the hands of several of the business men and they wanted to know what authority they had to compel the people to stop throwing paper on the streets

The Street committee stated that complaint had been made of the crossing on Lamb street between Ridge and Penn streets, and asking that it be removed and replaced where Ridge enters Lamb street. The Committee said that the property owners of East Beaver street were complaining about the condition of the street.

No action was taken on the request for a crossing on Allegheny street at Howard.

The nuisance complained of near Mr. Rhoads' residence was referred to the Nuisance committee for investigation.

The request of Mr. Armor was referred to the Street committee for investigation, and to report at next meeting.

The complaint of East Beaver street residents was referred to the Street committee with power to act

It was moved and seconded that posters be printed containing those parts of the Ordinance embodying the law against throwing paper on the streets. The subject of garbage cans was discussed and seemed to meet with favor at the hands of the councilmen.

In regard to Mr. Wetzel's request for instructions, a committee of Messrs. Kellar, Valentine and Gerberick was appointed to assist him in arranging the difficulty.

After moving that orders be drawn for the payment of the following bills, Council adjourned:

ON TRIAL FOR MURDER.

Strong Efforts Will Be Made to Save James Thompson's Neck.

Greensburg, Pa., May 18.—James Thompson of Delmont, this county, was placed on trial in the criminal court here to-day for the murder of Matthew M. Henry, a Jeannette shoemaker, last January. The whole day was consumed in the selection of a jury. The indications are that a stiff fight will be made to hold the degree of murder down. On January 2nd Thompson and Henry met at Jeannette and both filled up with liquor. On their way to Delmont that night Thompson threw Henry out of the buggy and then, when he attempted to get in again, he fired a bullet into Henry's breast. This is the story told by Henry before he died. Thompson claims to have no recollection of the deed, and it is likely that drunkenness will be advanced by the counsel for the defense. Alexander Eicher and J. B. Keenan are the counsel for the defense. Thompson bore a hard character in his neighborhood. He is well known in all the towns roundabout.

Lost in the Woods.

On Friday Mr. and Mrs. Ogden of near Clearfield went out to fight the forest fires which were threatening to destroy the fences around their property. They took their two little boys aged 5 and 8 years, along with them and when they came to the woods they put the children down and told them to stay where they were and not wander away. The father and mother then started off to battle with the flames and were gone some time before they got back. When they finally reached the place where they had left the little tots in the morning they were no where to be seen. The parents were naturally very badly frightened and at once began a search. All day long they hunted but the missing children could not be found. They spread the alarm and aroused the whole neighborhood. The fire in the mountain was growing fiercer every moment and they were afraid the little boys would be burned to death. The search was kept up all Friday night and not until the evening of the second day's search were the lost found. The younger child was lying on a log fast asleep and his brother was guarding him. They had wandered almost twenty-five miles around through the woods trying to find their way out. Several times they were compelled to run from the flames but beyond having their faces singed by the heat they were uninjured.

ASSOCIATION ORGANIZED

Successful Convention of Delegates From Centre County Sabbath Schools.

Three Interesting Sessions Held in The Court House—A Permanent Organization Effected.

A convention of delegates from the different Sabbath Schools throughout Centre county was held in the Court House, in this city, on Wednesday. The purpose of so convening here was to, if possible, effect a permanent organization of the county Sabbath Schools. The attempt resulted in a grand success and far surpassed anything like what was expected.

With the arrival of the early morning trains came delegates from every section of the county. An invitation had been extended to all and the response was general. By the time the last morning train had arrived the delegates had about all reached the city and immediately proceeded to the Court House. There were about 150 delegates present and what little room was not occupied by them was eagerly availed by interested spectators.

The convention was called to order at 10 o'clock sharp and J. C. Weaver, of this city, made temporary chairman. Rev. C. C. Miller, also of this city, was secretary. Each one present seemed to take such a marked interest in the proceedings that it was apparent from the start that the project would be a complete success. And it was, too, in every sense of the word.

The first part of the day's program was devotional exercises. They were conducted by Gen'l Sec. Rev. C. J. Kephart, and proved to be very interesting, as they were taken part in by many of the delegates.

The temporary organization followed. The officers of the Centre county association are as follows:

President, C. M. Bower, Bellefonte; Vice President, L. C. Rearick, Buffalo Run; Secretary, Geo. L. Potter, Bellefonte; Treasurer, C. L. Zerby, Millheim.

Then came the appointment of committees on enrollment, organization and resolutions. They were as follows:

ENROLLMENT—George L. Potter, H. H. Harshberger and Miss Jane McCalmont.

ORGANIZATION—C. M. Bower, B. F. Thompson, Austin Curtin, Darius Waite, L. C. Rearick, Wm. Thomas and Rev. G. E. Zehner.

RESOLUTIONS—Clement Dale, Esq., Revs. H. A. Grant and D. Sheerer.

Rev. J. W. Rue, of this city, then delivered the address of welcome. In a well worded address he extended, on behalf of the people of Bellefonte, a hearty greeting and a warm welcome to every delegate and visitor present. He carefully reviewed the importance of such an association as this convention was called to effect, and dwelt on the fact that the Sabbath Schools are to-day doing a great work—in fact so great that it cannot be accurately estimated.

"Possible Improvements in Sunday School Work," a conference conducted by Rev. C. J. Kephart, D. D., Gen'l Sec. Penna. State S. S. Association, was the next and a very important part of the program. Rev. Kephart's subject was one that everyone present was deeply interested in, and he was given the closest of attention from beginning to end. He advanced many excellent ideas in the conducting of Sunday School work that if followed out cannot help but result in much good and progress to both teacher and scholar. The subject was an excellent and a very appropriate one and could not have been in more masterful hands

Another subject that everybody was very much interested in was "Supplementary Work in the Primary Department," a conference conducted by Mrs. J. W. Barnes, Supt. of State Primary Work. Mrs. Barnes is thoroughly versed in her line of work, and during her address gave out some very valuable information as regards the work of teaching children. She conveyed the point that it was absolutely necessary to first make the scholars become interested in their Sunday School work and then do the teaching. Careful judgment should at all times be exercised in going about this work, and she emphasized the fact that too much should not be taught the children, but what was taught should be taught well and in a manner that the lesson and what it meant would be deeply impressed upon the minds of the scholars.

The report of the committee on enrollment was then heard. It showed the following delegates enrolled:

Fillmore—Dora Kephart, H. D. Lee; Centre Hall—E. J. Wolf; Spring Mills—C. E. Royer, J. D. Wagner, Wm. Goodhart, C. P. Long, T. M. Gramley, D. A. Lonce; Rebersburg—C. Lemont—Mrs Geo Williams; Buffalo Run—Mary Seibert, Nannie Hunter; Milesburg—Justin Brownell, G S Aiken; Marsh Creek—J Zeigler; Howard—Miss Sue Hall, Miss Temperance Hall; Jacksonville—David Harter; Dicks Run—Miss Harriet Hall.

Next was the assignment of delegates but the hospitality of the citizens of our town made this very easy and brief. A recess was then taken until 2 o'clock.

The afternoon program was opened by Devotional Exercises conducted by Rev. J. Zeigler. Dr. Benjamin Gill of State College followed with an address on "Duty of the Individual Church Members of the Sunday School." Dr. Gill held the attention of the delegates and spectators for almost an hour, and put out some pretty plain truths in his talk.

Mrs. J. W. Barnes had a subject "A Primary Class Taught" and used the blackboard frequently in illustrating the many excellent ideas which she advanced.

A General Parliament followed and Dr. William Laurie used as a subject "How to Secure Better Qualified Teaching Force" Dr. Laurie's address abounded in much useful instruction and he emphasized the importance of the following points to teachers: "Something to say" "always say it" and "say it with your whole heart filled with the holy spirit." Dr. Benison of State College also spoke forcibly on this subject.

Rev. Kephart came next with a brief talk on "Purposes and plans of the State S. S. Association." He presented some very interesting statistics as to the work of the state association and clearly outlined the object of its work, which was to advance the Sabbath School work in all parts of the state.

The report of the committee on organization showed the selections of the officers named in a foregoing paragraph.

An interesting feature of the work of the afternoon was the "Question Box." The questions were answered by Rev. Kephart in an able and instructive manner. A recess was then taken until 7.30 p. m.

The work of the evening was opened with a song service with the orchestra and was conducted by Lyman T. Eddy of Milesburg. A Milesburg choir rendered an appropriate selection which was duly appreciated by all. Mr. Weeden assisted in the singing and proved a great help.

Rev. Kephart, editor of the Sunday School Herald then stated that subscriptions would be received for that paper at the close of the session.

H. U Roop, Ph. D., Supt. of State Normal work, delivered an address on "The Sunday School Normal Class, What? Why? How?" Dr. Roop used the blackboard for making illustrations and greatly interested his hearers with his many good points He emphasized the importance of the teacher being in sympathy with his work, prepared for work and being earnest in the work. He rightly said: "It is not a matter of how much the children learn, as how well they learn it."

Rev. Kephart dwelt briefly on the "Qualifications of the S. S. Teacher," after which the report of the committee on resolutions was heard. It was as follows:

RESOLUTIONS.

The Centre County Sunday School Association in this its first annual Convention under its present organization hereby unanimously resolves:

1. That we endorse the action of the committee on permanent organization and will endeavor to the best of our ability to carry out the suggestions by said committee.

2. That we urge upon our teachers the more thorough and effective teaching of the temperance lessons and that they give more specific attention to all questions of moral reform.

3. That we tender our sincere thanks for the able and instructive addresses delivered by Mrs. J. W. Barnes, Rev. C. J. Kephart, D. D., who has come amongst us from a distance in order to give us the benefit of their most advanced ideas in Sunday School work, as well as the addresses of Rev. J. W. Rue and Dr. William Laurie and all others who have taken an active part in the proceedings of this convention.

4. That we tender our thanks to W. S. Weeden for the active part he has taken in leading the music of this convention.

5. That we hereby tender to the citizens of Bellefonte our greatful thanks for their kind entertainment and generous hospitality extended to the members of the convention during its present session and the interest they have manifested in proceedings of the same.

6. That we tender our thanks to the commissioners of Centre County for the free use of the Court House during the convention.

CLEMENT DALE,
H. A. GRANT.
D. SHEARER.

Rev. Kephart conducted very interesting consecration services after which the executive committee was instructed to look after the finances and call on the Sabbath Schools and also to appoint ten delegates to the State convention which meets in June. After singing several verses of "God be with you 'till we meet again" the session adjourned.

A CENTRE COUNTY BOY.

Given a Great Ovation in a Western Town Last Week.

We clip the following from the Oshkosh, Wisconsin, Daily Northwestern. It is about a former Centre county boy, Harold D. Hughes, who was born at Unionville and who is well known throughout the county. His many friends will be glad to hear just what he has been doing lately:

Harold D. Hughes, representing the Normal school of this city, took first prize in the inter-state oratorical contest held last night at Warnersburg, Mo., in which the Normal schools of Wisconsin, Missouri, Kansas, Illinois and Iowa were represented. Mr. Hughes' subject was "Abraham Lincoln—the Man," and besides first honors he was awarded a prize of $50. This is the same oration which Mr. Hughes delivered and on which he took first prize of $40 in the preliminary contests held between the students of the Normal some months ago. Mr. Hughes who won last night against four competitors, is a resident of Merrill, and about 19 years of age. His father, Rev. J. V. Hughes, pastor of the first Presbyterian church at Merrill, is a graduate of Princeton college and his mother is also a graduate of an eastern school. Harold has two sisters, one older, who is a graduate of the Shawano High school and has been a student at Worcester, Ohio, and one younger, who is a graduate of the High school at Merrill. Mr. Hughes graduated from the Shawano High school in 1894. He was always an apt and industrious student, but his progress was checked by an illness of about three years' duration. During the year 1894-5 he earned enough to keep him a year at the Normal in this city, and entered here last fall, taking up the work of the junior year. His abilities were early recognized by both faculty and students and the feeling of satisfaction and confidence was general when he was selected to represent the school in the inter-state contest at Warnersburg.

Harold D. Hughes, victor of the Inter-state oratorical contest at Warrensburg, Mo., arrived in this city at 2.05 this afternoon and was given an enthusiastic reception. Long before train time the depot platform was crowded with Normal students wearing knots of yellow and white ribbon, the school colors, and at times giving vent to the school yell. When Mr. Hughes stepped from the train he was greeted with a storm of applause. He was carried to an open carriage in waiting by about a dozen of those who had been his competitors in the preliminary contests held here a short time ago. The carriage was decorated with flowers and yellow and white ribbons, and within it besides Mr. Hughes, sat Prof. Clow, who accompanied him to Missouri. Two long ropes were attached to the pole of the carriage by which the young men of the school were to draw it. While waiting for the start the young champion received many warm hand shakes and hearty congratulations from schoolmates, who every few moments gave vent to their pent-up enthusiasm with the school cry. A procession was formed consisting of six young men, bearing the stars and stripes, then the Arion band, then four files of young men, nearly 200 in number, hauling the carriage. About 200 young women in line followed the carriage. The procession passed down Church street to Main, to Algoma, and up Algoma to the Normal school, where speeches and music occupied the remainder of the afternoon. The students assembled in the Auditorium where Mr. Hughes was given a seat of honor. President Albee gave a short address, as also did Profs. Hewitt and Sage and Miss Clark, Miss Henderson and Miss Apthorp of the faculty, and Miss Montgomery, president of the junior class of which Mr. Hughes is a member. Mr. Hughes also made a brief response.

If You Will Use a Little Reasoning and not be influenced by the claim that catarrh is a blood disease, you can easily prove that catarrh is climatic. Have you not the severest catarrhal attacks during winter and spring, and have you but little evidence of catarrh during the summer? Yes. Well, this proves it is a climatic disorder, inflaming the membrane of nasal passages. It is a waste of time and money to invest in blood remedies. The proper treatment is a local application, and the most prompt to cure is that popular remedy' Ely's Cream Balm.

George Thompson of Lemont who has been attending the University Dental College at Philadelphia arrived home this morning on his summer vacation.

A CYCLING MINISTER'S EXPERIENCE.

THE RESULTS OF LONG, HARD RIDING.

FULLY 3,000 MILES ON HIS WHEEL.

He Makes Some Reflections on the Benefits of the Sport and Tells of its Dangers.

From the Press, Utica, N. Y.

The Rev. Wm. P. F. Ferguson, whose picture we give above, will not be unfamiliar by sight to many readers. A young man, he has still had an extended experience as foreign missionary, teacher, editor, lecturer and pastor that has given him a wide acquaintance in many parts of the country.

In an interview a few days ago he said:

"In the early summer of '94 I went upon a tour through Canada on my wheel. My route was from Utica to Cape Vincent thence by steamer to Kingston, and from there along the north shore of the lake to Toronto and around to Niagara Falls. I arrived at Cape Vincent at 5 o'clock, having ridden against a strong head wind all day.

"After a delightful sail through the Thousand Islands, I stepped on shore in that quaint old city of Kingston. A slight shower had fallen and the streets were damp, so that wisdom would have dictated that I, leg-weary as I was, should have kept in doors, but so anxious was I to see the old city that I spent the whole evening in the streets.

"Five o'clock the next morning brought a very unwelcome discovery. I was lame in both ankles and knees. The head wind and the damp streets had proved an unfortunate combination. I gave, however, little thought to it, supposing it would wear off in a few hours, and the first flush of sunlight saw me speeding out the splendid road that leads toward Napanee.

"Night overtook me at a little village near Port Hope, but found me still lame. I rested the next day, and the next, but it was too late; the mischief was done. I rode a good many miles during the rest of the season, but never a day and seldom a mile without pain.

"The winter came and I put away my wheel, saying 'now I shall get well,' but to my disappointment I grew worse. Some days my knees almost forbade walking and my ankles would not permit me to wear shoes. At times I suffered severe pain, so severe as to make study a practical impossibility, yet it must be understood that I concealed the condition of affairs as far as possible.

"From being local the trouble began to spread slightly and my anxiety increased. I consulted two physicians and followed their excellent advice, but without result. So the winter passed. One day in March I happened to take in my hand a newspaper in which a good deal of space was taken by an article in relation to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I did not at that time know what they were supposed to cure. I should have paid no attention to the article had I not caught the name of a lady whom I knew. Reading, I found that she, in similar circumstances, had been greatly benefited by the use of Pink Pills, and knowing her as I did I had no doubt of the truth of the statement that she had authorized.

The first box was not gone before I saw a change, and the third had not been finished before all signs of my rheumatic troubles were gone to stay.

"I say 'gone to stay,' for though there has been every opportunity for a return of the trouble, I have not felt the first twinge of it. I have wheeled thousands of miles and never before with so little discomfort. I have had some of the most severe tests of strength and endurance, and have come through them without an ache. For example, one afternoon I rode seventy miles, preached that night and made fifty miles of the hardest kind of road before noon the next day. Another instance was a 'Century run,' the last forty miles of which were made in a downpour of rain through mud and slush.

"You should think I would recommend them to others? Well, I have, and have had the pleasure of seeing very good results in a number of instances. Yes, I should feel that I was neglecting a duty if I failed to suggest Pink Pills to any friend whom I knew to be suffering from rheumatism.

THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH IN WHITESBORO, OF WHICH REV. WM. FERGUSON IS PASTOR.

"No, that is not the only disease they cure. I personally know of a number of cures from other troubles, but I have needed them only for that, though it would be but fair to add that my general health has been better this summer than ever before in my life.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are now given to the public as an unfailing blood builder and nerve restorer, curing all forms of weakness arising from a watery condition of the blood or shattered nerves. The pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post paid on receipt of price, 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 (they are never sold in bulk or by the 100), by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N.Y.

STRAIN ON THE EYES.

Children at School Are Inclined to Have "the Academy Headache."

One of the common causes of pain above the brows is the overuse of the eyes and the strain of accommodation in constantly looking at near objects. In its transient form it may be familiar to some as the result of a visit to a picture gallery, but in more senses than one this may be known as "the academy headache," for if it is temporarily developed in a morning spent at Burlington House it is even more readily excited and permanently established among the children at the boarding schools and the girls of the high schools.

Seventy-two per cent of the children of to-day are said to be suffers from defective eyesight, generally in the direction of difficulty in seeing near objects clearly. Headache is almost always present in the cases of the poor little creatures, whose bodies are starved while their minds are overfed in the scramble for educational grants.

The ocular headache is often coexistant with the anaemic headache especially in growing girls. Here we find frontal or tic of bloodlessness. Plenty of wholesome food, fresh air and out door exercise will help to combat with the anaemia while the practice of looking at distant objects, and, alas! the use of appropriate spectacles may relieve the headache of eyestrainly ,but reading, writing, and sewing will permanently damage the sight, so that for the sake of education and in the struggle for life the race is growing up purblind.—Philadelphia Press.

Ruptured a Blood Vessel.

The Lock Haven Democrat says: Thursday evening at Jersey Shore T. F. Gallagher and William Hepburn decided to run a race for a distance of 100 feet to see who was the fastest sprinter. While nearing the end of the race Gallagher fell, but was able to pick himself up and walk to the Gamble house, where he fainted. Physicians were summoned, but all efforts to resuscitate the young man have failed. An examination revealed that he had ruptured a blood vessel in the brain. Gallagher's home is in Blooomsburg, but he has been in Jersey Shore for a few weeks painting the scenery in the new opera house.

What Was Done by the Supreme Council Saturday Evening.

Washington, May 17.—After the adoption, by the supreme council of the American Protective Association, last night, of the report of the advisory board withdrawing the opposition of the order to McKinley, a resolution was introduced denouncing the action of the senate in confirming the nomination of Colonel Coppinger, to be brigadier general, on the ground that he owes allegiance to another power than the United States.

The committee on the Armenian question submitted a resolution which was also adopted, denouncing the "most bloody and loathsome persecution of the Armenians by the Mohammedan government"; expressing indignation at the apathy of the European powers "and specially at the infamous connivance of the Roman institutions with the foul savagery of the Mohammedan fanatics in the work of extermination," and commending the movement for the rescue of the Armenians from outrage and oppression.

The election of officers was proceeded with until midnight, when in deference to the objection of many of the members to transact business on Sunday the council adjourned until 9 o'clock Monday morning.

John W. Echols, of Atlanta, Ga., was chosen supreme president; H.S. Williams of Boston, supreme vice president, and Mr. Swain, of California, supreme secretary of state. The remaining officers will be chosen on Monday.

Washington was selected as the permanent headquarters of the order.

Named a Committee.

Beaver, Pa., May 17.—At yesterday's bar meeting, which was attended by nearly every attorney in the county, a resolution was adopted calling for a committee of three to investigate the alleged charges of bribery and corruption made against Judge J. Sharp Wilson.

The meeting while it lasted was quite spirited. Judge Wilson's friends vigorously opposed any action on the ground that the stories were the work of disappointed politicians, and it was an attempt to besmirch Judge Wilson, which the bar should not dignify by taking any action. They claimed the proper manner of procedure would be to bring the matter before the grand jury. The resolutions were finally adopted by a vote of 128 to 16. Judge Wilson refuses to discuss the matter, but his friends say that he invites prosecution by his enemies The entire fight grows out of the bitterly contested election in February last.

Nominations by the President.

Washington, May 15.—The president to-day sent to the senate the following nominations:

William Lochren, of Minnesota, to be United States district judge for the district of Minnesota, vice R. R. Nelson, resigned.

Dominick I. Murphy, of Pennsylvania, now first deputy commissioner of pensions, to be commissioner of pensions, vice William Lochren, resigned.

Napoleon J. T. Dana, of New Hampshire, to be first deputy commissioner of pensions, vice D. I. Murphy.

The resignation of Judge Nelson was received at the white house this morning and after very short consideration the president decided to fill the vacancy by the appointment of Judge Lochren without consultation with the latter. Judge Nelson's resignation was not unexpected, as he has reached the age of retirement and has taken advantage of the law which permits him to retain his salary after leaving the bench.

Cleared $254.

A business meeting of Company B was held at the Armory on Friday evening at which time a statement of the receipts of "The Drummer Boy of Shiloh" was read. It showed that the company cleared $254 out of the transaction. This amount will be devoted to the benefit of the company in putting it in better shape. The following committee was appointed to decide on the distribution of this money: Sergeants Alexander and Rearick and Corporals Samuel Taylor Rutt and Love.

A new mess tent and also a new cooking stove will be bought in time for camp this year. The subject of buying army cots for the men was discussed and they will probably be bought if they are allowed to be used.

NEWS FROM CLEVELAND.

Three Ballots Taken But No Result As to New Bishops.

Cleveland, May 15.—Bishop Jas. N. Fitzgerald, president of the Epworth League, presided at the session of the Methodist General Conference to-day. The order of the day, the election of bishops, was taken up.

Two-thirds of all the votes cast are necessary to election. Pending the counting of the votes the conference resumed the regular order. The amusement question was brought up by a resolution bearing on the subject introduced by the Rev. Frandenburgh. The resolution was referred to the committeen on judiciary.

Rev. Dr. Wm. M. Swindells, of Philadelphia, introduced a resolution asking the United States government to refuse permits to sell liquors in any building owned or controlled by the government. Adopted.

The first ballot on the vote for bishops was as follows: Whole number of votes, 522; necessary to a choice, 348. At least 50 candidates received votes. J. W. Hamilton received 107, Earl Cranston 115, C. C. McCabe 141, J. W. E. Bowen (colored) 148.

The result of the vote was received with great applause. Another ballot was ordered and the conference took a recess until 2.30.

Upon reassembling the result of the second ballot was announced as follows: C. C. McCabe 218, J. W E. Bowen (colored) 175, Earl Cranston 167, A. W. Hammon 161. A third ballot was ordered, but the result will not be announced until to morrow.

An Enraged Bridegroom.

Reading, Pa., May 15.—An unusual scene was witnessed in St. Mark's Polish Catholic church here when a bridegroom refused to listen to the words of Rev. Father Malusecki, the priest, and rushed frantically away from the alter, deserting his bride

The occasion was the marriage of John Krampa, to pretty Laura Somerfette. When the wedding procession reached the alter the priest proceeded to deliver a lecture to the future husband. The priest said that Mr Krampa had neglected to do things he should have done and proceeded to give him some wholesome advice. This made the groom angry and he roughly pushed aside the bride and without a word of explanation walked out of the church. On the sidewalk he tore the bouquet from his coat and dashed it upon the pavement, then jumping into a cab proceeded to his boarding house and locked himself in his room. Late in the afternoon he was found by his fiancee who talked him into a good humor and they finally started for the church again. This time it was too late for a church wedding, but the ceremony was performed in the parsonage, after due apologies had been made to the priest. Then followed the wedding celebration which had been so rudely disturbed in the morning.

Mercer's Misfortune.

Mercer, Pa., May 15.—At 2 o'clock this morning, a freight crew on the Western New York and Pennsylvania railroad discovered that the large four-story brick flouring mill, owned by William Houston, was on fire. They gave the alarm, and attaching their engine to three cars loaded with flour, hauled them to a place of safety. The fire was beyond control when the firemen reached the scene. The flames spread to the large flouring mill of Calvin & Young, nearby, and both buildings were totally destroyed. The loss is $50,000, partially insured. The fire is a great loss to the town, as the mills were the chief industries.

Two Million Dollar Deal

Philadelphia, May 15.—The absorption of the Electric trust by the Pennsylvania Heat, Light and Power company was decided to-day at a meeting of the directors of the latter company. The price paid was about $2,000,000. This gives the Heat and Power company control of a majority of the electrical business in Philadelphia. Among the financiers back of the company are William L. Elkins, W. W. Gibbs and Bank President Fillen.

Dunbar Miner Badly Hurt.

Dunbar Pa., May 15.—While working in the Morrell mine, a German miner whose name cannot be learned was probably fatially injured to-day by a fall of slate. He was removed to the Cottage hospital where his right arm was amputated.

Landlord Killed.

Pottsville, Pa., May 15.—Landlord Hepner, of the Centralia hotel, at Centralia, was shot dead this afternoon by Michael Corrigan, to whom the landlord had refused to sell a drink. Corrigan fired three shots, all of which took effect. Corrigan escaped. He is being hunted for by the police.

"HE THAT WORKS EASILY, WORKS SUCCESSFULLY." CLEAN HOUSE WITH SAPOLIO

"God Save the Martyr Race!"

Miss Frances E. Willard, of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, has published an earnest and eloquent appeal in behalf of the suffering Armenians, in which she says, pledges made have not been kept, but must be kept.

"An ancient nation," she says in opening, "is being exterminated in the land of the Bible. Fifty thousand victims stretched out under God's sky in the slow circle of a year; women, pure, devout and comely, suffering two deaths—a living and a dying death; little children poised on the bayonets of Moslem soldiers; villages burned; starvation and pestilence the common lot.

"On the other hand Christain Europe, with 7,000,000 soldiers who take their rations and sacrament regularly; statesmen who kneel on velvet cushions in beautiful cathedrals and pray, 'We beseech Thee to hear us, good Lord:' diplomats who can 'shape the whisper of a throne' and shade the meaning of an ultimatum; but neither statesman, diplomat nor soldier has wit, wisdom or will to save a single life, shelter a single tortured babe or supply a single loaf of bread to the starving Christians on the Armenian hillsides; 'vested interests' are against it, 'the balance of power' does not permit it, the will of the Sultan is the only will in the Empire of Turkey, and all the wills of all the Christian nations cannot move it one hair.

"The Turk is barbarous, while the statesmen are over civilized; he is a fanatic, while they are craven cowards."

The close of the appeal is as follows:

"Miss Rebecca Kirkorian, of Aintab, Turkey, whose sister has been stolen and thrust into a Turkish harem, and whose father, a pastor of 50 years' standing, is now in a Turkish prison, is going out to raise funds for her people. She is a White Ribboner, a devoted Christian and an impassioned speaker. Let me beg you to send for Miss Kirkorian, who will be accompanied by one of the Misses Leitch, missionaries of the American Board, whose successful work in Ceylon is well known. These ladies will arouse enthusiasm wherever they go, and will bring in returns in that which means bread for the starving. Let local unions send for them. A mass meeting in the interest of the Armenians will strengthen every line of work in which we are engaged, but do not wait for anybody to come; read this appeal to your church prayer meeting, get your pastor to hold a meeting, call together the local societies of women, and remember that $5 will keep one family alive three months, until the next harvest.

"Remember that the hearty and substantial support of this relief work will be of great value in demonstrating to the Turks our sincerity as Christians, and the depth of our interest in our suffering brethren. The time is short in which any of us can work on this island of a world; we are bound for the continent of immortality. 'Let us not be neglectful, we shall not pass this way again.'

Women Cannot Be Excluded.

Harrisburg, May 15.—The department of public instruction has of late received numerous inquiries regarding the right of women to act as trustees in free public libraries Deputy Superintendent Steward today sent a reply to a letter of this character, in which he said there can be no valid reason for excluding women from membership in the board of trustees authorized by the act of assembly relating to free public libraries. The deputy superintendent said: "I think it would be rather commendable on the part of the board to recognize women in organizing the board of trustees."

Rev. R. Crittenden, querries as to how his neighbors would like it if he should take his ashes and deposite them in the street in front of their residences. The way to find out would be to try it; there would be an earnest protest, we think, though we cannot see why he would not have as good right to do so as they have to deposit their filth at his back door on Ridge St. What would be the difference?

Novel Headache Cure.

The latest 'cure" suggested for the relief of headaches is a hair cut. A certain physician in London has met with great success lately in his treatment of persistant cases of "nervous" headaches, and he has disclosed the secret.

In each case, he says, after the patient had laid bare a long tale of woe—of sleepless nights and miserable days—he prescribed briefly a simple hair cut. It is not necessary that the hair should be cropped off short, after the fashion of convicts.

The curative property of the treatment is based on the fact that the tube which is contained in each single hair is severed in the process, and the brain "bleeds," as the barbers say, thereby opening a safety valve for the congested cranium. A commentator in the London society press in referring to this cure says:

"Try the cure when next attacked by headache, and if the result is not satisfactory rest assured that it is not the fault of the prescription, but that the head is so wooden that it wooden't act."

Christmas Tips.

One of the objections to Christmas boxes, writes James Bayn, is that one is seldom quite certain whether one is giving to the right people. Dumas tells us that he took some pains to discover one Christmas day what he was paying for. A second lamplighter excited his suspicions. "I have already made my little present," he said, 'to the man that lights the street lamp." "Yes, sir," returned the other, "but I am the man who puts it out."

Nine Babies in Two Births.

Eritz Heinsnit, a reputable German, living a mile from Fowler, Indiana, was astounded last week by an addition of six to his already fair-sized family. His wife presented him with a half dozen little Heinsnits at one birth, all lusty babies and all with a fair prospect of living.

Two years ago Mrs. Heinsnit gave birth to triplets, and all nine children are living, the oldest being as yet scarcely able to talk.

Of the last lot four are girls and two boys.

Made the Robbers Run.

Irwin, Pa., May 15.—This morning Night Policeman William Over found three burglars at work in the general store of Leonard Hunker. They escaped by going out the back door. Over fired upon them and wounded one of them, but his companions assisted him away. The robbers had two sacks filled with the most valuable articles in the store.

Preacher Not Libeled.

Meadville, Pa., May 15.—In the criminal libel suit against J. B. Robinson, of the Jamestown (Pa.) "Sentinel," the Grand Jury found "not a true bill." The costs were put upon the county. This is the action by Rev. White for an alleged libellous publication concerning a charge that the preacher had kissed a female member of his congregation.

After Forest Fire Originators.

Harrisburg, May 15.—According to an opinion just made by Deputy District Attorney Elkin, county commissioners have undoubted authority to have punished persons guilty of originating forest fires, at the expense of the counties in which the incendiarism may occur.

Jackson Was Found Guilty.

Cincinnati, May 14.—The case of Scott Jackson for the murder of Pearl Bryan was given to the jury to-day, and after conferring for two hours and ten minutes, the jury returned the following verdict:

"We, the jury, find the defendant, Scott Jackson, guilty of the murder of Pearl Bryan and fix the punisment at death."

Despite the stringent instructions of the judge there was a murmur of approval in the room and a few even applauded by clapping their hands. Jackson did not let even an eyelid quiver. He looked just a shade older, but did not show the slightest emotion.

Attorney Crawford asked the court that he have one month to make his motion for a new trial. Judge Helme did not decide the question at once, but announced that the court adjourn until 2 o'clock. The prisoner was led out by the jailer, followed by fifteen deputies.

For a Large Amount.

A case that is attracting considerable attention and which is now in the midst of trial in our Centre County courts is that of Jenkins & Lingle vs the Hale estate. The plaintiffs sue to recover to the amount of $40,000 for damages caused by insufficient water power at their foundry and machine shops since 1887.

As is well known, Jenkins & Lingle's shops were on the Hale site along the race near the Pennsylvania railroad freight station. Their power was taken from the mill race to run their machinery. The plaintiffs claim that in 1887 there were new turbines put in Gerberich & Hale's flouring mill and ever since that time their (Jenkins & Lingle's) water power has been insufficient to do their work.

There are four cases between these same parties and the outcome of the present one is awaited with much interest by everybody. It has already been on trial more than two days but will now soon go to the jury.

His Injuries May Prove Fatal.

Pottsville, Pa., May 14.—Yesterday Frank Kremmes, employed at the Glendower colliery near Minersville, passed through the breaker rollers used to break coal into small sizes and sustained injuries that may prove fatal. They contain long stout teeth and that the unfortunate man was not ground into a pulp is a mystery. Such an escape with life after passing through breaker rollers was heretofore unknown. Kremmes had permitted a large piece of coal to pass through the guard bars in to the rollers and the rollers became stalled. He then lifted up the trap door and stepped upon the coal and with a few blows with a pick broke the lump. The rollers began to run and Kremmes was driven through them. He was found below in the shute unable to move, being paralyzed by the squeeze he sustained. He was taken to the hospital where his recovery is considered doubtful.

Dead Body Found in an Old Sleigh.

Butler, Pa., May 14.—The badly decomposed body of Reed Croft, 25 years old and single was found in an old sleigh in an outbuilding on his father's farm, in Lancaster township. A paper labeled arsenic found with the body leads to the belief that he committed suicide. He had been searching for work for some time, and it is thought that his inability to find employment caused despondency. His father is a wealthy farmer.

A Woman's Wiles.

Bradford, Pa., May 15.—The local agent of an installment house in this city is wondering where he is at. The poor man is trying to recover from a shock he experienced yesterday. On Friday a woman who, it seems, has bought goods from him before, called at his office and ordered a number of rugs, window curtains and draperies sent to her house. She told the agent to call on Monday for the first installment, and knowing her, he let the goods out. A representative of the installment house called on Monday and the woman told him that she had concluded not to keep the goods, giving her reasons for her change of mind, and the agent took possession of the stuff and returned to the office. She did not pay him anything, of course. Imagine the chagrin of the agent when it developed later that the woman had invited a number of friends to her home on Sunday and had ordered the goods and arranged them about the house to make a good impression on her guests. This is a evry economical way to make a "splurge," and the woman's wit, if not used just in the right direction, nevertheless stood her in good stead.

Thirty Pounds.

From hundreds of testimonials, the originals of whice are on the file and open to inspection the following is presented.

Clayton, Nevada Co., Ark., Jan. 28, 1895.

Eureka Chemical & Mfg., Co., La Crosse Wis.—Gentlemen: For forty years I used tobacco in all its forms. For twenty-five years of that time I was a great sufferer from general debility and heart disease. For fifteen years I tried to quit, but couldn't. I took various remedies, among others "No-To-Bac," "The Indian Tobacco Antidote," "Double Chloride of Gold," etc., etc., but none of them did me the least bit of good. Finally, however, I purchased a box of your "Baco-Curo" and it has entirely cured me of the habit in all its forms, and I have increased thirty pounds in weight and am relieved from all the numerous aches and pains of the body and mind. I could write a quire of paper upon my changed feelings and condition.

Yours respectfully, P. H. MARBURY.

SOCIETY OF CINCINNATI.

The Decendants Meet in Philadelphia and Valley Forge.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 15.—Decendants of the founders of the Society of the Cincinnati convened to-day in the Pennsylvania Historical rooms, this city, as delegates to the triennial meeting of the general society of the Cincinnati.

To-day is the one hundred and thirteenth anniversary of the institution of the society. The most important transaction of business will be the election of a president general to succeed the late Hon. Hamilton Fish of New York, and a treasurer-general to succeed the late Hon. John Schuyler of New York.

Maj. William Wayne of Pennsylvania, Hon. Winslow Warren of Massachusetts and Hon. James Simsons, vice-president of the South Carolina society, are prominent candidates for the presidency. The sessions will be held behind closed doors. The election of officers will be the concluding business of the meeting. To-morrow's session will be held at Valley Forge.

Result of Playing Ball on Sunday

Harleton, Pa., May 17.—The small mining village of McAdoo, near here was the scene to-day of a serious fight. A crowd was watching a base ball game when a number of Italians started a fight. The foreigners were generally armed with revolvers and these they used freely. The Italians put their unarmed opponents to fight and shot seven men. James Ward, Thomas Kearns and John Kepping were seriously wounded and one Italian was badly beaten.

Besides the names of those given above the following are among the wounded: Burke Brennan, shot in the shoulder; Mary Burke, aged 16, shot in the back; James Muldowney, fingers shot off; Antonio Rizzio, nose broken; James Reynolds, shot in the arm, and Mrs. Rosi Veichi, scalp wound.

When your stomach begins to trouble you it needs help. The help it needs is to digest your food, and until it gets it, you won't have any peace, stomach trouble is very distressing, very obstinate, very dangerous. Many of the most dangerous diseases begin with simple indigestion. The reason is that indigestion (not digestion, not nourishment) weakens the system and allows disease germs to attact it. The Antidote is Shaker's Digestive Cordial, strenghtening, nourishing and curative. It cures indigestion and renews strength and health. It does this by strengthening the stomach, by helping it to digest your food. It nourishes you. Shaker's Digestive Cordial is made of pure herbs, plants and wine, is perfectly harmless and will certainly cure all genuine stomach trouble. Sold by druggists, price 10 cents to $1.00 per bottle.

The A. P. A. and McKinley.

Washington May 15—Every indication points to an absolute repudiation by the Supreme Council of the A. P. A., now in session in this city, of the action taken by the Executive Committee of the Advisory Board against McKinley's candidacy There has been much feeling expressed over the matter and the Executive Committee has been severely criticised. But the members of that body have not given any indications of backdown, but meet the criticism with intimations that those composing the Supreme Council are endeavoring to get in line with his friends since McKinley has shown such strength.

The trouble in the organization has been intensified by the action of the Executive Committee of the Advisory Board this evening in presenting to the Board a report adhering to its anti-McKinley decision. The meeting of the Board was the most important event of the day. A member of the Excutive Committee said to-night that the report which the Executive Committee presented to the Advisory Board is in accord with the statement made public at the time McKinley was blacklisted. He also said that the action of the committee was based on affidavits by prominent Ohio men. It is likely that the Advisory Board will censure the Executive Committee. This will take the question of McKinley's repudiation out of the hands of the Suprem Council, and will allow the Advisory Board to make another report to the convention. There is no doubt however that the question of McKinley's candidacy will be discussed by the Supreme Council as stated, the attack on McKinley will be discarded. But before getting down to the main question, the convention will have to consider a motion, which will be made to-morrow, referring the subject of the Executive Committee's action and the position of the A. P. A. towards McKinley to a special committee for investigation. This motion will provide that the special committee shall report on all candidates for presidential honors.

The New C. C. C. Line.

Complete and opened to the public. Greatest improvement of the age. Anyone can ride over it to health and happiness.

Chicago.—The new C. C. C. line is now open to the public, and at once gained an enormous patronage on account of its meritorius service it performs. The line is built on solid merit, and leads by the straightest and shortest way to health. Everybody is delighted, and those who thought they would never reach Health and Happiness again have found this an easy and sure way of getting there.

Ninty per cent. of the ills of humanity are caused by lazy livers, chronic constipation and their consequences, impure blood and a poisoning of the whole system. What's the use of stumbling along the roadway, sick and weary when you can quickly ride health—by taking Cascarets. Buy and try Cascarets Candy Cathartic to-day. You will find that it's what they do, not what we say they will do, that will please you. Sold by druggists generally, 10c, 25c, or 50c per box, or by mail for price. Send for booklet and free sample. Address, Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago; Montreal, Can.; N. Y.

—No need to fear the approach of croup if you have Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil in the house. Never was a case that it wouldn't cure if used at the outset.

Don't Scatter.

We often hear good old ladies advise their friends when they are afflicted with boils and other swellings of a similar character that indicate a bad condition of the blood, to "take somethin' toscatter 'em," This is the worst advice that could be given, for, if "something scattering" is taken the poi-on in the blood, which the system is trying to throw off through the boil or whatever the swelling may be, is driven back into the system, and so effectually "scattered" through it; and by it is likely to manifest itself in terrible ways. What should always be done when boils, pimples and other eruptions of a like nature appear, is to give something that will act on and with the blood, and help it to relieve itself of the impurities in it; something in short, to assist the system in its effort to throw off impure matter which does not belong there. If swellings and eruptions increase after beginning to take such a medicine, be sure that it is doing exactly what it ought to. It is driving out the poison. When the blood is purified these outward indications of inward impurities will cease. The medicine that does this work most effectively is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

THE REASON WHY.

Every Why Has a Wherefore and 'Tis Well to Look for it at Times.

In these days people want to know the whys and wherefores. The 19th century man is a natural skeptic. The why and wherefore is plain. He reads statements of supposed facts. He is told that every ailment of mankind can be cured. He has an ailment and tries some panacea. It fails; he tries another with the same result. Such experience makes him look askance of future claims. Often the fault is his, but he didn't see why. He may have a backache, or perhaps a lame or weak back. He used plasters or liniment they relieved him for a time, but failed to cure the trouble. This is his fault; the why is that he did not know the wherefore of his aches. Had he known that the kidneys were the cause, that backache generally means kidney ache, that the kidneys must filter the blood constantly that failure to do so immediat ly effects the back. That backache is only the steps toward many kidney disorders. Urinary troubles follow. Retention of urine, excessive urine. Diabetes—Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills are specific for all kidney complaints. The aching back has no greater enemy than Doan's Kidney Pills. Not injurious to the most delicate constitution. Do not act on the bowels but direct on the kidneys. For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents per box or six boxes for $2.50. Sent by mail on receipt of price by Foster Millburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. and Eczema cured. These two complaints are so tenacious that these readers ——— should know o the succes obtained by using Drf David Kennedys Favorite Remedy.

Where all other treatments have ailed, it has made a complete cure.

No more horrible case of salt rheum was ever reported than that of Wilbur L Hale, quartermaster, Pratt Post, G. A. R. Rondout, N. Y.

HOMOEOPATHS IN SESSION

Tenth Semi-Annual Session Held In This City on Tuesday.

MANY INTERESTING PAPERS READ.

The Doctors in Session Almost Eight Hours—The Next Meeting Will Be Held at Altoona—A Detailed Report.

The tenth semi-annual meeting of the Homoeopathical Medical Society of Central Pennsylvania was held at the Bush House in this city on Tuesday. The session was only fairly well attended owing to the recent change in the railroad service. Those who were here, however, transacted considerable business. Dr. M. J. Locke, of this city, delivered the address of welcome, after which the session got down to hard work.

A paper on "The management of the Lying woman after delivery" was read by Dr. G. W Hall, Altoona. This paper was a continuation of a paper read at the last meeting on "The management of Labor" In his paper Dr. Hall said in part:

"The proper adjustment of the lying in room is a matter of great importance. It should be sufficiently large to contain such a volume of air as will suffice the patient for healthy respiration through the night, while the windows cannot be safely raised. All suspended clothing and unnecessary furniture should be removed. It should be as remote as possible from all avoidable sources of noise. It should be well supplied with windows for the admission of air, and these should be so arranged as to admit the air without producing a draft immediately upon the patient. The bed should be placed so as to avoid this source of great danger.

"The room should be partially darkened, as a strong glare of light is very injurious to the patient for the first few days after delivery. The eyes are especially sensitive to light and through them the brain becomes iritated. The patient should be guarded against the intrusion of strangers and new friends, except those of her own family, for at least the first ten days after delivery. Nothing, perhaps is more likely to injure her than the excitement necessarily attendant upon seeing and entertaining strangers. This is especially true of nervous, excitable women and those generally of feeble constitutions."

An interesting paper was read by Dr. M. J. Locke of this city on "A plea for thorough ocular inspection in Rectal Diseases." Among other things Dr. Locke said.

A Plea for thorough Ocular inspection in rectal diseases —Having of late taken up more thoroughly the study of rectal diseases it has caused me to look back over my college life and my previous practical experience in the study of medicine and note how little attention both my medical friends and myself have given to the study of this most important organ not only have I noticed my fellow physician in prescribing for the case but also recollect myself taking the patients word for his or her trouble when they have diagnosed their case as that of haemmorrhoide, at first I felt disposed to believe that this condition of affairs, was brought about by modesty but as I find year after year that vaginal examinations are becoming more favorably looked upon I begin to realize that it is not this but a lack of study that brings about this condition of affairs, even the patients themselves realize this for instead of consulting a physician in the matter, the majority of, cases apply the druggist for some patent medicine which he might recommend to them in hopes of obtaining some relief. In my first few years of practic I recollect but few cases of rectal trouble. There is no doubt that I could have found many cases had I realized the symptoms which are prominent in the many pathological conditions of the rectum of late years it has been the custom for physicians where they find an irritable stomach that will not retain food restoring to rectal allimentation to nourish their patients with many cases excellent results. Now if the bowel will absorb nourishment it is only natural that this organ will absorb the decayed matter that may remain there after an incomplete bowel movement, also pus or any other matter which may collect there. Some may claim that nature has prepared itself to resist this but when we consider that man man is eating many things to-day that in the days of our creation was not thought of it is only reasonable that diseased conditions prelude the possibility of this organ properly taking care of its self and as a result we find many people broken down in health from what has been called lack of neutrition but what I believe to be due to neglected rectal diseases and this condition causing that organ to absorb decayed matter and thus it is taken up by the blood. I have seen several cases of pronounced consumption where on close examination I have been unable to discover the lung leasion and upon rectal examination have found that organ filled with slime and pus due to ulceration After giving that organ a local treatment I have found my patient improving and I believe that several of them will live to die of a disease very different from that of phthe sis Few cases that report to the physician for piles will be found on examination to have that disorder as any sensation of pain or soreness in the region of the anus will almost always be spoken of by the laiety as piles. I know of one case a gentleman of wealth and position, who consulted several well known practioners of medicine for the relief of piles. They all prescribed for him giving both internal external treatment with no results he finally fell into my hands having what he called piles. He told me that he suffered very little unless he had a bowel movement and at that time the pain was intense due as he supposed to the protruding o the piles. I found on ocular examination that his piles consisted of a tooth pick that had lodged its self in the rectum and with its removal and a little local treatment for inflamation his pile trouble as he called it rapidly disappeared. I know of no patient on my list who was so grateful to me as this man for the benefit that he received at my hands and I am sure that he is now a confirmed homoeopathist all this gained by ocular inspection. I do not propose to take up your time with the treatment of the various rectal diseases but will take the liberty of naming a few of the symptoms are, as a rule, as follows: Severe pains in the lower extremities of he spine, pains radiating through the hips and down the thighs, An inclination to remain at stool after the passage has been effected, burning sensation in the region of the anus, and in pronounced cases a discharge of mucus or pus. The indirect symptoms are: dizziness, loss of memory, pains in the back, indigestion, bloating bladder, and kidney trouble even the sympathetic nervous system is attacked; and I am satisfied that I am not overstepping the mark when I state that believe you will find on thorough examination that ⅔ of your cronic cases have some rectal trouble, or at least their condition be due to a rectal origin. The differen diseases of the rectum I will name in order of their frequency those being found in the greatest number heading the list: Inflammation, Catarrh, Ulceration Haemmorrhoids, Arterial and Venous Puritis Fissure pockets, Papilla and Fringe Fistulae, Strictures prolapsus recti; spasmodic contraction of the spincter, polipus o the rectum tubercle of the rectum and cancer. You can readily see that the majority of these cases go on undiscovered until they are looked for and the part of the body in which they exist is subjected to examination. I know of no organ in the human organism that needs more attention than the rectum and no organ that gets as little consideration."

Dr. W. S. Bigelow of Philipsburg read a paper of "Practical Experience with Kali Phos" which was listened to with the closest of attention of every one present. It in part was as follows:

KALI PHOS.

Hering and Cowperthwaite make no mention of this drug. Hughes, in his Pharmacodynamics, says: Before passing to other salts of potash which have an individuality of their own, I would mention that this substance as a natural constituent of the body has given it a place among Dr. Schussler's "tissue remedies." He uses the chloride, phosphate, and sulphate (Kali muriaticum, phosphoricum, sulphuricum); and thinks the first of great value in croupous inflamations of mucous membranes and severe affections of the skin; and the third in catarrhs and superficial disorders of the same parts; and the second in nervous debility and septic conditions of the blood. I mention these points, though Dr. Schussler's structure seems to me much founded on guess work. The large proportion of potash normally present in muscle is the only fact of the kind which I should regard as practically significant. Dr. E. M. Hale, in his new remedies, mentions Kali Hyperphos but says there are no provings yet gives some special indications. Among the pathogenetic symptoms that have been verified by cures are: melancholia, muscular debility with myalgia and loss of muscular power. A painful feeling in the interior part of the thorax.

Dr. Shussler says: A disturbance in the formation of the molicules of this salt causes (A) in the brain—according to the location, extension, or intensity of disturbance, (a) Mental depression, manifesting itself by irritability (vexation); over-sensitiveness; lachrymose tendency; timidity, shyness, terror. (B) Softening of the brain, (b) in the nerves, laming pains, mostly felt during rest; better from movement without exertion. Feeling of lassitude and exhaustion. (c) In the muscle-cells, fatty metamorphosis. In the muscular juice, or mycocine, putrid decomposition. (d) In the blood-corpuscles, too rapid decay of the same. Therefore Potassium phosphate cures the following diseased conditions: septic, scorbutic bleedings, mortification, encephaloid cancer, gangrenous croup, phagadenic cancre, putrid-smelling diarrhoea, advnamic typhoid conditions, etc. These are the principal points I have been able to learn from the books in reference to this valuable remedy, for such it has many times proved itself. And because it has proved so serviceable in my practice I invite your attention to some of the points which have enabled me to select it in preference to some other remedy having similar symptoms. One naturally thinks of the following remedies in connection with it: Arsenic, Bell. Bapt. Carbo veg. China, Kali Bi., Lach., Merc., Cor., Phos., Pulsat., and Lulph.

In the septic conditions one markedly distinguishing feature separating it widely from Ars. is the absence of fear which is so characteristic of the latter, though accompanied with high temperature. A case of pyopneumothorax, treated in '93 and '94, illustrates this so well that I will give the facts. Dec. 26, '92, was called to see E. Y., aged 9 years, had taken severe cold early in the fall and had been under Dr's care all the time but gradually grew worse. On the above date the breathing was very short, slight movements of the chest wall, R. plural cavity filled full to the neck, temperature 103 degrees at noon. Given Bryonia 3x with advice to report condition of case the following morning, as it might be necessary to draw off the fluid then. Report was favorable and the case continued to improve until about the middle of Feb., when the girl contracted more cold. The side began to swell again and on March 5th I opened and thoroughly washed out the cavity. Removed about three pints of pus. The washings were repeated several times and the child got so nearly well that she was not required to come to the office, but sufficient medicine given last two weeks and requested to report if improvement was not continuous. When I saw the child again she was covered with black spots from the size of a penny to that of a silver dollar, all over the body, and about the old opening in the side a space as large as my two hands, black and blistered, temperature 105, pulse very weak and rapid, and a most cadaverous odor filling the room. Mind perfectly clear and calm. Body very weak, much thirst for large quantities of water, could eat nothing. Gave Kali Phos. 1x, one grain in ½ glass of water and two teaspoonsful every 15 minutes for three hours and then hourly. Probed the side and let out the pent up pus. The girl made a splendid recovery without deformity, and has remained well ever since.

Case No. 2 one of membranous croup. Boy three months old but a large and vigorous child. Very offensive breath, prostration came on suddenly, not restless or nervous, thirst. Occasionally child would cringe as if hurt. Kali Phos. 3x was given with relief of all the symptoms, and in three days threw up the membrane which was tough, stringy and somewhat decomposed. Child made a good recovery and has had no trouble since In this case I selected the Kali Phos. in preference to Kali Bi., because I could see no symptoms of that remedy apart from the croup, and have never had good results from it unless the croup symptoms were corroborated by other remote symptoms, such as sores with abrupt edges as if punched or the very stringy character of the phlegm. I selected it instead of Kali Chlor., because of the excessively offensive breath. There was no marked sensitiveness of the external neck to indicate Lachesis. There was not the eye and face symptoms for Bell. and not the fever for Iodine.

A paper that proved very interesting and instructive was that read by Dr. R. L Piper of Tyrone on "Natrum Muriaticum as prescribed by a Homoepathic Physician." In his paper Dr. Piper said among other things:

NATRUM MURIATICUM.

Natrum Muriaticum or Salt is found in all the solids and fluids of the body with the exception of enamel. It regulates osmotic action by virtue of its property of attracting water which is imbibed as drink or in the food, and which it carries into the blood whence it finally reaches the various cells giving them the needful degree of moisture. The property of attracting water poressed by the salt within the cell causes the cell to enlarge and divide. Without this property there would be no multiplication of cells. The albuminous principles of the blood are held in solution, the form and consistence of blood corpuscles preserved, by this regulating power. If no salt were produced within the cells the water destined to supply their moisture would be retained in the intercellular fluids and the result would be Hydraemia.

Salt causes a deterioation of the blood and a high degree of irritation resulting in inflamations of a scorbutic nature, as noticed in sailors and persons confined to salt foods for a long period. Aside rom this scorbutic dyscrasia the most essential feature of salt is its power to produce a cachexia similar to that which results from long lasting or badly treated cases of ague, especially cases treated for a long period with quinuine. It is not my purpose in this paper to give you in this paper to give a detailed account of pathoogenetic symptoms of salt. A study of your materia medicas or schusslers work on the "Twelve Tissue Remedies" will be more beneficial to you. I wish to speak of two cases in the treatment of which salt has been of great value to me: Case 1 —Nov 16 1895.—Mr. M. aged 44 years carpenter had suffered from acute intermittent fever 12 yrs ago. At intervals since that period, especially during the winter season, he would suffer from very severe semi-lateral headaches, the pain being of a throbbing nature, and accompanied as a rule by a chilliness and soreness, with bitter taste. These attacks would recur at irre-periods and be sufficiently severe to keep him in the house for a week. Very frequent the pain would be most severe during the night. The malaria history led me to prescribe Mat. Muir. 30x a powder every 4 hours. The relief was very gratifying to patient and physician, the attack being relieved speedily and no return for a month. Since that time he has had several mild attacks but he keeps his powder on hand and thinks the medicine must be very powerful to produce the effect it does.

"The law of Similars" was the subject of a paper read by Dr. M. A. Wessner of Johnstown. This paper was one of the most interesting event of the session and commanded the marked attention of all present: It was in part as follows:

THE LAW OF SIMILARS BY M. A. WESSNER, M. D.

"The Law of Similars is as old as the world itself. It dates away back to the dawn of the ages when the universe came into existence. Like many other scientific truths unobserved and unknown in the beginning, it was not recognized until the ducation and intelligence of the human race were gradually brought to such a height that its full significance was readily grasped and its rightful meaning properly comprehended. The lover of ancient medical love searches the pages of antiquity in vain for its presence. It is nowhere mentioned save and except in the writings of Hyppocrats alone until we came down to comparatively modern times. Whatever may have been said or done between this period or over a score of centuries if anything at all is as silent as the eternal hills themselves, or as still as profound stillness of death. The record is perfectly blank so far as Similia it concerned and have every reason to give expression to our unbounded joy and everlasting gratitude that it has been vouchsafed to us to live in an age of better and more enlightened and more humane medical practice.

Notwithstanding all these facts, however, the Law of Similars was part of the creation, and although brought fourth and perfected by an Infinite Being, like many other facts in nature, it was left to the skill, wisdom and foresight of finite man or recognition and application. Science always stretches forth a willing hand, ever ready to reward the searcher of truth under all conditions, but man needs sufficient ability and a large share of perseverance if he would fathom her mysterious depths or scale the rugged heights of her vast dominion. Nothing comes to us without an effort, and in proportion to our effort shall be the result of their work or by the work itself and seldom think of the wonderful amount of energy expended in attaining the object aimed at. Again men succeed or fail according to the condition of their cerebrate organization. Some are born with many faculties of the mind, others with only a few, but in order to advance all are required to put forth a certain amount of effort and as a consequence one man more than another. All cannot reach the distinction. Most of us go only part of the way and then the advancement of our career suddenly stops. Others go farther but few, very few arrive at the final goal.

Thus it has been with the Law of Similars. Men seem to grasp it for a time but in all cases their researches were not continued sufficiently long to derive practical benefit therefrom. It was first mentioned by Hippocrates, the venerable father of the Healing Art who lived 400 years B.C. In his trestied "Concerning the condition or parts of men" he says: By similar causes disease is caused and by similar remedies men are made well; by an remetic the annual disease ceases." Whether or not this great man ever practiced Homoepathy as we understand it, I am not prepared to state. I do not believe however, that he did, but I am confident that Samuel Hahneman's first inspiration was drawn from his writing. After this we find no mention of it among the ancient writers and century upon century was permitted

Woman's Realm.

MAKE THE HOME A BLESSING.

The Love of Children is Innate in the Heart of every True Man and Woman.

All that is beautiful and lovely in woman, finds its climax in motherhood. How often we find among our American women that longing for the prattling voice, the idol of their waiting hearts. It is a natural instinct, this yearning of the heart for offspring; yet the wife hesitates to talk with the family physician on this delicate subject. A good way to do is to send for a medical book on "Woman and Her Diseases," (168 pages) sent, sealed in a plain envelope, on receipt of 10 cents in stamps, for postage, if you address the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

The reflections of a married woman are not pleasant if she be delicate, rundown, or debilitated. She feels "played out." Her smile and her good spirits have taken flight. It worries her husband as well as herself.

This is the time to build up her strength and cure those weaknesses or ailments which are the cause of her trouble. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription regulates and promotes all the proper functions of womanhood, improves digestion, enriches the blood, dispels aches and pains, melancholy and nervousness, brings refreshing sleep, and restores perfect health and strength.

It's a safe remedial agent, an invigorating tonic and nervine which cures all those disorders, weaknesses and derangements incident to womanhood.

Homœopathts in Session

to roll by with one of the most beautiful of nature's laws quietly slumbering in peaceful oblivion.

Coming down to modern times then we first find it mentioned by Von Stoerck in 1776, and later by Crumpe, an Irish physician, the Danish surgeon Stahl and Haller of the University of Gottengen. By all of these it was recognized and some of hem almost reached the practical deductions from the law; but after all they were unable to take in the situation in its entirety, and what might have been a blessing and a comfort to humanity was of no consequence whatever at that stage of the world's history. However, it remained for Samuel Hahnemann alone who appeared to possess the necessary qualifications to gather together the facts and principles advanced by those before him, adding thereto new facts and principles from his well stored and scientific mind, and reduce them to a system perfectly plain and readily comprehensible, having for their foundation the natural Law of Similars. For this one great act he certainly is entitled to a lasting degree of respect, gratitude and admiration, and we owe him a debt which never can be repaid."

"My friends we are on the eve of a new century of Homoeopathy. It has survived all the malignant satire, all the legal supression, all the polished sophistry of a hundred years, and it exists to-day in vigorous splendor of sturdy manhood. Everywhere the indications are favorable and we have been progressing with unparalelled rapidity. Whether or not that progress shall continue in the future as it did in the past remains for us the living to decide. If we are true to the principal for which we contend all will be well and the guiding star of our destiny will ever be upward and onward. Already our school is found in every country under the sun. We find it in the far off east and in the progressive Japan: in the despotic Russia and cruel Turkey: among the heathens of southern Asia: in the slow plodding Egybt: in historic Italy where once existed classic Rome in her towering strength, and in the land once occupied by ancient Greece with all her intellectual preeminence. We find it particularly in the most enlightened countries of Europe. Even in its own home, by the cradle where its infancy was nurtured and rocked, where it was prosecuted in its youth and tortured in its manhood, even in that country its progress has not been stayed by human machination. And today it exists everywhere beyond the sea, and on this side of the sea, from north to south and from east to west but nowhere on the face of the whole earth has it been accorded the same freedom as under the glorious protection of the stars and stripes in our own dear native land. God grant that this condition of things may always continue, and that every other institution intended to improve the morals and happiness of our people may be apportioned alike this precious inheritance despite the viscious scenes of the howling vultures that now infest the body politic."

Other papers read were as follows "Appendicitis," Dr. Howard Cheyney, Williamsport; "What it Takes to Make a Successful Physician," Dr. G. C. Burnley, Williamsport; "Housemaid's Knee," Dr. M. A. Wessner, Johnstown; "Obstetrics as Viewed by a Young Physician," Dr. J. W. Moust, Lock Haven; "Obstetrics to Date," Dr. F. S. Smith, Lock Haven.

The following officers for the ensuing year were then elected:

President, Dr. W. S. Bigelow, Philipsburg; Vice President, Dr. M. A. Wessner, Johnstown; Second Vice President, Dr. J. W. Moust, Lock Haven; Treasurer and Recording Secretary, Dr. E. H. Morrow, Altoona; Corresponding Secretary, Dr. A. L. Baker, Hollidaysburg.

The following committees were also selected:

Committee on Publication—Drs. Moust, Morrow and Baker.

That

Extreme tired feeling afflicts nearly everybody at this season. The hustlers cease to push, the tireless grow weary, the energetic become enervated. You know just what we mean. Some men and women endeavor temporarily to overcome that

Tired

Feeling by great force of will. But this is unsafe, as it pulls powerfully upon the nervous system, which will not long stand such strain. Too many people "work on their nerves," and the result is seen in unfortunate wrecks marked "nervous prostration," in every direction. That tired

Feel-

ing is a positive proof of thin, weak, impure blood; for, if the blood is rich, red, vitalized and vigorous, it imparts life and energy to every nerve, organ and tissue of the body. The necessity of taking Hood's Sarsaparilla for that tired feeling is, therefore, apparent to every one, and the good it will do you is equally beyond question. Remember that

Bound to Have a License.

A bewhiskered man who didn't look as prosperous as some of those behind him pushed himself to th e line in the city comptroller's office yesterday and stood at the license window.

"Is this where they get wagon licenses?" he asked the clerk.

"Yes, this is the place, Pay your money up stairs and bring the receipt down here" was the reply.

"Lem'me see. How much is a wagon license?" inquired the unprosperous man as he fingered his pocket.

"It will cost you $8."

"No le'son that?"

"No, that's the price regulated by law."

"How much for an express license?"

"That will cost you $1.25."

"Well, I can't afford it. I'll run my old wagon in the shed and turn my horses out to pasture. I ain't got enough money and can't borrow any.

"Well, I'm sorry"—

"Say, how much is a dog license?"

"One dollar."

"Well, gim'me one. That's all I can afford."—Indianapolis Journal.

heed the signal

Many persons take a variety of remedies and try many novel procedures to reduce their weight. We do not refer to these. If you have been in fair health, with a normal amount of flesh, and yet have been losing weight of late, there is something wrong. If there is an inherited tendency to weak lungs; if your cold hangs on, or if you are weak, without appetite, losing color, and easily exhausted; this loss of flesh is the signal of distress. Heed it, promptly.

RUSHED WITH WORK.

The Valentine Iron Company Back Six Weeks With Their Orders.

If there is one industry in Bellefonte that the citizens should feel proud of it is The Valentine Iron Company's extensive plant which is located about a half mile South of the city.

A DAILY NEWS reporter called at these Furnaces this morning and found everything there in a hum—in fact too busy to talk. There are more than 300 men employed about these furnaces and the ore banks connected with them and they are kept busy all day long and many of them at night also. These furnaces are a little world to themselves and to realize just how busy everybody is there it is necessary to visit them. At present they are running full time and although they are straining every nerve they are six weeks back in their orders. Every mail brings numerous inquiries concerning and orders for their celebrated "Nittany Pig Iron," and they do not come from one state. They are constantly shipping car loads of their output to all parts of Pennsylvania, New York, Maryland and in fact all over the New England states. The iron manufactured by the Valentine Company is of a very high grade and finds ready sale at all the markets. It is especially adapted for making Stove plate, Builders Hardware, Holloware, and many other kinds of iron. In the manufacturing of Holloware only the highest grade of iron can be used and the "Nittany Pig" more than fills every requirement for that purpose.

In connection with the furnaces are the company's large ore mines. They are at Gatesburg, Washore and Nigh Bank. Mr. Harry C. Valentine is superintendant of these mines and to him largely is due the credit of the exceptionally superior quality of the iron manufactured, as he mines the best and cleanest ore that can be secured The total out put of the mines is about 180 tons of ore per day and of furnace about 90 tons of pig iron.

The puddling mill is not in operation just at present as it is more profitable to dispose of their pig iron than of the muck bar as the latter at present commands a low figure.

A six foot vein of rich pipe ore has been discovered and opened up on the Wagner farm on the College turnpike about two miles from the furnace. The Valentine company holds the ore right and they are naturally very much elated over the results. The ore is of such a good quality that it dosen't need to be washed before putting it into the furnaces.

Superintendent Mortimer Donoughoe is a very busy personage at this large plant and to his untiring efforts is due the successful management of the business. Miss Devling is the paymaster and she too is kept busy looking after the company's interests. Mitchell Gardner is the skillful book keeper and he can be found head over heels in his work at almost any hour of the day. Joseph Mitchell is the expert weigh master and has his hands full in keeping the documents straight. They are a busy set of people and what is more, thoroughly understand their business.

John P. Harris is the President of the company and Robert Valentine Secretary and Treasurer.

McKeesport's $200,000 Postoffice.

Washington, D. C. May 15.—The senate committee on public buildings and grounds has reported favorably the bill for a $200,000 postoffice building at McKeesport. It will be passed through the senate by Senator Quay before the session adjourns.

Worked for Ex-Governor Shultz.

Lebanon, Pa., May 15.—John Campbell, colored, aged 108, died here to-day at 1 o'clock. At one time he was a servant in the family of Governor Schultz, and for forty years worked on the farm of Judge William Rank.

Annual Memorial Services.

Camp No. 59 of the Union Veteran Legion held its annual memorial service at Gregg Post Rooms on Thursday evening May 14, in memory of the dead comrades in general and a special service in memory of the late Captain Christian Dale.

The services were to begin at 8 o'clock, but long before that hour, the spacious Post Rooms began to fill up with soldiers and visitors. If there is any place where hospitality is a very common thing, it is at our local Post Rooms and every person who went there on Thursday evening was received and shown around as though the service was given for his special benefit. We might add right here that one can travel the country over and may come across people who make you welcome but there are none who can make you feel more at home than jest the old soldiers; and it is this feature that makes their every event so successful. We are wandering slightly from our story but the writer was so impressed with this point that he cannot help but mention it.

Promptly at 8.15 o'clock Col. John Stewart of State College rapped atenttion and the officers of the camp took their respective places. The services were opened with singing an appropriate piece entitled "One By One" by Messers, Shuey, Whippo, Musser and Smith with Miss Johnston presiding at the organ. The ritual was then read and purpose of meeting stated by Col. Stewart after which another beautiful selection was sung. The memorial cermony for the late Captain Christian Dale was then gone through with, during which a wreath of greens was placed in a chair draped in black denoting vacancy caused by the departure to the great beyond of one whose memory shall ever live.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, Lieut. W. M. Irvin of Williamsport, late of the 49th. Pennsylvania Regiment was introduced and delivered the annual oration. Lieut. Irvin is an interesting speaker and had the close attention of hearers to every word he spoke. He briefly reviewed the breaking out of the war, its causes, progress and final ending and then paid a beautiful tribute to his late friend Capt. Dale. He told how he and Capt. Dale had charge of companies near by each other during the war and dwelt on the latter's ability as an officer He also mentioned the many good traits that he found in him during the war and concluded by eulogizing him as a man of sterling worth and one whom to know was an honor which could only be realized by actual experience.

Reciprocity.

German professors are proverbially absentminded, but none of them more so than Professor Mansel of Bonn. He noticed one day his wife placing a large bouquet on his desk. "What does all that mean?" he asked.

"Why, this is the anniversary of your marriage," replied Mrs. Mansel.

"Is that so? Well, let me know when yours comes around and I'll reciprocate."—German.

Succeeded the Second Time.

Johnstown, Pa., May 13.—Several months ago Guy Master, a South Fork miner, aged 21, and Miss Ella Tuttle, of Ehrensfield, aged 18, started to Cumberland to get married, but were captured here and taken back. They lived in hope of better luck next time, and at 3 o'clock this morning got a carriage, drove to this city, and were off for Cumberland before the old folks knew anything about it. They returned to this city to night after getting married, and are living in expectations of a forgiveness when they return home to-morrow.

Accidentally Killed.

A fatal accident took place in a lumber camp, a mile northeast of Woodward, on Tuesday morning, by which an 8 year old son of Mr. John Sheetz was killed by a 9 year old son of a man by the name of Goodman.

On the fatal morning the little boys accompanied their fathers to work in the woods. When the men left the camp the boys remained to play. It was not long until little Goodman discovered a gun, with which he began fooling. While working the trigger the gun was discharged, the load entering little Sheetz's breast, just below the heart, causing death in about half an hour. Burial was made to-day.

Hastings Makes Some Appointments

Harrisburg, May 15.—The governor has appointed M. A. Kirk, M. D. of Bellefonte, and William Rauch, M. D. of Johnstown, members of the state medical electric examining board. Mr. Rauch succeeds Samuel L. Lake.

Complete Success.

Bellefonte in her day has held some very successful social events, but for a good time in general, nothing yet given has been equal to the sociable held by the Christian Endeavor Society at the Presbyterian chapel on Thursday evening. The object in giving the sociable was to get the older and younger members of the church together so that they might become better acquainted. There was a large turnout and it is needless to say that everybody had a good time. There seemed to be a something prevail throughout the entire evening that made the occasion so successful and there was not one person who was there but who regretted it when the hour for going home had arrived. Although the affair lasted several hours, yet it seemed no more than several moments, so quickly did the time fly. Excellent refreshments were served during the evening and everything was free. There was no stinting about it, either, and each one had as much to eat as he wanted. Delicious ice cream and cake went a great way towards making the event so enjoyable; but the warmth with which everybody was greeted upon entering the rooms and the careful attention paid to them at all times was what made the evening one to be long remembered by every one who was fortunate enough to be there.

Unfortunate Change.

The substitution of any word for another or the omission of one word is frequently enough to spoil the effect of an orator's eloquence.

Years ago there was a military celebration, in the course of which various popular military organizations and regiments were made the subjects of ovations, eulogies and toasts. One enthusiastic admirer of the "Salem Light Infantry" had carefully prepared a toast which he was sure would swell the heart of those connected with the company in question with pride and joy.

He proposed to begin as follows: "To the Salem Light Infantry! Let the enemies of our country look on such troops and tremble."

Unfortunately, when the time for the delivery of his toast came, his wits deserted him.

"The Salem Light Infantry!" he faltered. "The Salem Light Infantry! Let our country look on such troops and tremble!"—Youth's Companion.

Two Men Killed.

Irwin, Pa., May 15.—Andrew Klepple, aged 27, and Joseph Kohn, aged 21, both miners employed by the Westmorelend Coal Company, were instantly killed by being struck by an engine while walking along the railroad track to their homes about one mile east of here to-day. Klepple was so terribly cut as to be beyond recognition, and fragments of his body were strewn along the track for some distance. Kohn's head was crushed and his body badly mutilated. The former was married and leaves a wife and four children in Austria, while Kohn was single but has a mother and three brothers at Etna, Pa.

The diploma is awarded for good yield, general appearance, true to variety; planted August 28, harvested July 6. Yield 23 bushels per acre. etc. Accompanying the diploma is a handsome aluminum case containing a fine bronze medal issued by the Fair Committee. Mr. Hoy can well feel proud of his prize.—Democrat.

To Scrape an Acquaintance.

"To scrape an acquaintance" was originated by the Emperor Hadrian. Once when visiting the public bath he found an old veteran scraping himself with a piece of broken crockery in lieu of an iron or copper scraper. Hadrian gave him a sum of money to provide the necessary materials for a bath, and on his next visit to the institution found it full of veterans scraping themselves with potsherds. "Scrape away, gentlemen but you shall not scrape an acquaintance with me," was Hadrian's comments as he went out.

The Wedding Dress.

How well I remember it all! We were sitting around the fire in the oak parlor of the old Dower House at Cromer—mother, Aunt Lettie and I. Dear Aunt Lettie, how beautiful she was still despite her snow white hair, and though she was 38, her complexion was as fresh and bright as any young girl's. We were chatting over the peace just proclaimed—the peace that ended the long war with France; the war that lasted 20 years.

I was at my mother's feet watching the faces gather among the glowing embers—they were ever the same face to me—the face of dear Jack Pendarvas. Perhaps I ought not to say he was my lover, though we had been sweet hearts since childhood, but he had been away at the wars three years, and my mother would hear of no engagement and would permit me to do no more than write and receive an occasional letter. Still, I had broken a sixpence with Jack when we parted; and, as I softly touched my half, which I always carried, I prayed that my love had been true to me, as I knew I had been to him. Yet I feared; for had he not been everywhere, and surely he had seen many faces fairer than mine?

"I suppose," said my mother, "Major Pendarves will be coming home now. Well, Sir John and Lady Pendarves will be thankful. Come in, Martha. What is it?"

"Please Ma'am, a letter from Sir John; a man from the Hall has just ridden over with it."

"What is it, Mary?" inquired my aunt of my mother, who was reading the note through a second time. "No ill news I trust."

"Oh, no. Read it yourself, Letitia."

"Of course the child cannot go, as she has nothing to wear. There is not even time to get her a dress from Norwich, still less from London, as you know I intended."

"Cannot go where?" I ventured. Is it anything about me?"

"Yes my dear. Sir John writes that the masqurade given to celebrate the return of their son is to take place a month earlier than was at first arranged. In fact, it is fixed for to-day week, as Jack—Major Pendarves; I should say— is expected on that day.

"Jack coming back on Wednesday! Oh, mother, cannot I go? I must go. I have been looking forward to it. I have not seen Jack, dear Jack, for three years. I wander if he has altered, if he has forgotten me. Oh, only seven days more, and he will be here and I shall see him again. Oh, mother, cannot I go?"

"Well, child, I do not see how you can. You have nothing that would do, and, you know, I could not get a dress from anywhere nearer than Norwich, and I should not like you to go in anything—your first ball too."

"I should so like to go mother. Cannot we manage anyhow?"

Aunt Letitia, who has been turning the letter over and over thoughtfully in her white hands while we talked, said:

"Mary, there is that dress, you know, which was to have been my wedding gown. If Lettie likes she may wear it. Hoops and powder would do for a masquerade. They were worn 20 years ago."

"My dear Letitia, cried my mother, betraying her suprise alike in face and voice," "you surely cannot mean that?"

"Yes, Mary. It may as well be of some use at last. Lettie is a good girl, are you not, my dear?" patting my head "and I don't want her to be disappointed."

I must tell something of my dear aunt's life, that you may understand why my mother and I were touched to suprise.

Twenty years before my aunt, then 18 and the belle of Dawlish (some said of Devonshire), was engaged to be married to handsome Gilbert Tresillian. It was a splendid match in every way, for he was young, rich, amiable. He was an orphan, untroubled by any undesirable relatives, and, moreover, he had an ample income arising from money in the funds.

Gilbert Tresillian came to stay in Dawlish, where my grandfather then lived, at the Mill House, a charming old place some four miles from the town, surrounded by magnificant gardens, sloping terrace to the sea—gardens the admiration of the west country. The day before the wedding he spent there, returning in the evening to the Red Lion at Dawlish. My aunt walked with him about a mile through the gardens, where they parted until the morrow, and from that moment Gilbert Tresillian was never seen or heard of again. He disappeared as completely from mortal ken as though the earth had opened and swallowed him.

The country was scoured, the shore beneath the cliff was searched—but not the slightest trace could be found. My poor aunt came near to dying with brain fever, and when she recovered her beautiful hair was white as snow. My grandfather removed from the place whose every object brought back some tearful memory to his daughter, and when, soon after, he died, Aunt Lettie came to live with us in Cromer. Though only a little thing, I recall her perfectly the day she came, for I thought I had never seen anyone so sweet and yet so sad. None had ever heard Aunt Lettie laugh none had ever seen her smile, yet she was cheerful always and ready to help every one. All this happened 20 years ago and though many had sought her hand she was still true to the memory of Gilbert Tresillian.

During the next few days I could think and talk of nothing save the masquerade and Jack's return.

But be the day never so weary or long.
At length it ringeth to evensong.

And so at length the eventful evening arrived. Aunt and mother dressed me in petticoat and train of lovliest white brocade, trimmed with filmy honiton lace. mother dropped many a tear, recalling the bride that was to have been, whose romance of love was cut short in a mysterious fashion, but aunt never said a word till I was dressed and then, turning to my mother she exclaimed:

"She looks better, Mary, than I should have done, and after all, you see, it has not been utterly wasted. But you must let me powder your hair, Lettie. Every one wore powder when I was young."

At last I was ready, just as the lumbering old chariot drew up to the door.

The drive to the Hall, the hedges and trees sparkling with frost in the brilliant moonlight, the hammer, hammer of the horses' hoofs upon the iron bound road; the first sight of the Hall, as we drove up the avenue, all its windows illuminated; the faint sound of the music borne upon the still night air; then the entry into the brilliantly lighted rooms; Sir John and Lady Pendarves' hearty welcome—all come back to me now. I suppose my entrance made a sensation. I was conscious of a buzz of admiration as I passed through the assembled guests.

"Why, Lettie; my dear," exclaimed Lady Pendarves, "how beautiful you look! I declare your hoops and powder become you mightily. But come along, child, let me take you to Jack. He has been asking for you ever since he came back." And, taking my hand in her jeweled one, "Lettie, my dear, if you could"—

Just at this moment up came Jack (Major Pendarves he was now), looking handsome in his hussar uniform, yet just the same merry, smiling Jack of old. He was my partner in the new dance, called the waltz, just introduced from abroad—a dance that my mother did not quite approve as she considered it too familiar for young men and maidens, but which I found very agreeable with Jack for partner.

"Well, Lettie, you have grown quite a woman now, and I suppose have quite forgotten your old sweetheart?"

"Oh, Jack, how can you? I have my half here," touching my pocket. "Can you say as much?"

"Yes, dear, that I can. I have never parted with it. It has been with me through every battle—my talisman of safety and love."

What need to tell again the old story ever sweet, that men will love to tell and women to hear as long as the world endures; suffice it that ere the dance had ended I had promised to be his wife.

"Oh, Jack," I said, as he was leading me back to Lady Pendarves, "I felt almost wicked to accept you. You know I have not a penny, and my dress," I added with a laugh, "is Aunt Lettie's."

"I don't care if you haven't a penny. I have enough for both, and I want you for yourself and not for your money."

Lady Pendarves was delighted and Sir John was kind, and so it was settled that, with my mother's permission, we were to be married ere Jack rejoined his regiment.

"And now," said Lady Pendarves, "you must really go and dance with some of the other guests and leave Lettie to me."

I was sitting, oh, so happy, by Sir John, who was making all sorts of plans for our future, when I saw a tall gentleman, dressed in foreign uniform, making his way through the guests toward the recess where we were. I had noticed him several times before in the course of the evening regarding me most attentively.

As he was evidently coming to speak to us I said:

"Who is this gentleman, Sir John?"

"Oh, my dear, a Mr.—Mr.— tut, tut, I forget his name for the moment—a friend of Jack's, who came over from France with him and is staying a few days with us."

By this time the gentleman had made his way across the hall, and stood bowing to us.

"May I have the honor of this dance?" he inquired.

I was going to reply "No," for I wanted to rest till Jack came back to me, when Sir John said, "Yes, Lettie, child, do." So, of course, I was obliged to say, "With pleasure."

My partner, who was certainly uncommonly handsome and tall, almost as handsome and tall as Jack, only much older, was silent for the time, and then said suddenly:

"Pray pardon my curiosity, but are you a native of this country? You are so like someone I knew years ago, the likeness is quite startling."

"Yes, I was born here in Cromer."

"Ah," he replied with a sigh, "I was foolish to think of such a thing. Of course it could not be," to himself and then to me, "I only returned to England a few weeks ago and am trying to trace a Miss Trehern.

"Why, that is my name," I answered quite startled.

"But the Miss Trehern I am searching for is almost as old as I am. And you—you are not more than eighteen. Besides you said you were born in Cromer, and she was a native of Dawlish."

"Why, you must mean dear Aunt Lettie, my father's sister," I said. We came from Dawlish here."

"Is your aunt married?" asked my partner breathlessly.

"No."

"Thank God!" I am sure I heard him mutter under his breath.

"No" I said. "Aunt had a terrible disappointment years ago. Her lover was killed—fell over the cliff, we think—the day before they were to have been married, and aunt has never cared for any one since."

"Thank God!" my strange partner said this time aloud. "My child I ought to explain, to introduce myself. I should have done so at first, but the likeness was so striking, I thought perhaps you were her daughter. My name is Tresillian, Gilbert Tresillian. Ah I see you know," noticing my start. "I was not killed on that awful night. I was captured by the press gang."

"Yes, yes", I said. "Go on."

"I made a desperate plunge for liberty, but what was one against so many? I was soon knocked insensible, and when I recovered consciousness I was on shipboard, bound for the Mediterranean The next day a gale sprang up, our vessel was seperated from the rest, and we were captured, after a sharp engagement, by the enemy. I was landed, wounded and a prisoner, and have remained a prisoner ever since. I tried to communicate with England, but was discovered, and in consequence was transferred to another prison, this time in Switzerland, and only the entry of the allies into Paris gave me my freedom. I came to England, hurried to Dawlish, to find that Miss Treherne had left years ago, and that no one knew her whereabouts. I returned to London to settle matters with my agents and instruct them to continue the search and then accepted the invitation of Major Pendarves, whom I had met in Paris, to spend a short time with him. And you think Letitia—Miss Treberne I mean—has not forgotten me?"

"Yes, I am sure," I said; "quite sure. Oh, I am so glad. You don't know Aunt Letitia." Noticing an amused smile on his face: "Oh, I had forgotten. Well she is just the sweetest, dearest woman in the world, and I am so glad. It is just like a story. Now take me back to Sir John and tell him."

Jack and Sir John, Mr. Tresillian and I, were soon deep in explanations and congratulations, and I am afraid for a time the other guests had to look after themselves It was arranged that Jack and Mr. Tresillian should accompany me home that very night,

"Lettie, my child," said Lady Pendarves, with a merry twinkle in her eye as I was leaving, "unless I am much mistaken, we shall be having two Miss Trehernes married instead of one."

How happy I was that night! I kept touching my half of the broken sixpence in its blue silk bag in my pocket. It had indeed brought me luck. However, the happiest day must end, and so I suppose must a merry evening. Jack and I and Mr. Tresillian were soon rolling over the frost bound roads toward home, I with my hand in Jack's supremely happy, and Mr. Tresillian telling us his experience as a prisoner in France. Poor fellow, how I pitied him! At last we arrived at the Dower, House, and it was agreed that I should go in first and break the news to my mother and aunt. Mother came into the hall to meet me.

"Well, my child, have you enjoyed yourself? But, there, I need not ask you—you look radiant."

"Oh, mother dear," laying my hand on on her shoulder, "I am so happy. Jack has asked me, and if you consent, we are to be married at Chrtstmas." For answer my mother kissed me. "And, mother Jack is here, and some one else, whom you and aunt, too, will be glad to see—an old friend."

"An old friend? But my dear child, why don't you bring them in?"

"Jack, dear." I cried, "come in both of you. Oh mother dearest," I said half laughing and half crying, "he was not killed. He did not die."

"Was not killed? What do you mean?" replied my mother turning round as Jack followed by Mr. Tresillian, came up the hall. My mother put out both hands to take Jack's and then catching sight of Mr. Tresillian's face exclaimed, "Merciful heaven, Gilbert!"

"Yes Mary, it is I. Not dead, as you see: And Lettie?"

"Is waiting still. Gilbert, Oh Major Pendarves, I am so glad. Lettie has told me. And, now, child, go into the oak parlor and break the news to your aunt. No, perhaps I had better. Gilbert come when I call." Jack and I went over to the fire, and in a few minutes mother's voice called, "Gilbert, Gilbert, come quick!"

Mother soon rejoined us, and together in the firelight we talked over our plans, Jack saying I must go to London and be presented at court on my marriage. There is little else to tell. As Lady Pendarves had said, there were two Miss Trehernes married together, and though Jack would never agree with me, I always said Aunt Lettie looked the best of the two.—Exchange.

Can't Eat ✲ Breakfast—

a failing altogether too common with Americans. Due generally to excesses of some sort, whether over-work or dissipation the result is the same. "The candle is being burnt at both ends." The man who begins the day in this way is living on vital forces that should be husbanded. If you can't eat in the morning as you should, take a glass of milk containing a tablespoonful of

Bovinine

The effect it marvelous. You will have taken a food stimulant that nourishes, makes new blood, new bone, new flesh and nerve tissue, and one that has no reaction. Every vital organ of the body will be kept in a normal condition and will be enabled to throw off disease. Bovinine is a powerful concentration of the life-maintaining elements of lean beef, all of which are preserved by the special cold process employed in its manufacture. Doctors everewhere will commend it, and druggists sell it.

that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the one thing that can and does cure the derangements of the female system. It is women's great regulator. If every women who suffers from diseases peculiar to her sex knew of its wonderful curative properties, a chorus of rejoicing would be heard throughout the length and breadth of the land, singing its praises. For nursing mothers and debilitated "run down" women generally, it is the greatest restorative tonic and soothing nervine known. For those about to become mothers it is indeed a priceless boon. It lessens the pains of childbirth, parturition, promotes the secretion of an abundance of nourishment for the child and shorten the period of confinement.

Death at Madisonburg.

Henry Fiedler, a well known citizen of Madisonburg, died at his home on Friday morning at 9 o'clock of typhoid-pneumonia, after an illness dating back but a week. The deceased was about 65 years old and had been a farmer all his life. Five children survive him. They are J. A. Fiedler of Williamsport, formerly editor of the Keystone Gazette of this place; Isaiah, of Missouri; Newton, at home; Mrs. J. E. Reber, of Lewisburg, and Bertha, at home.

The funeral will be held on Monday morning at 9 o'clock from the late residence of the deceased at Madisonburg

HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATES.

Who They are and What They Will Speak on Next Tuesday.

Invitations are out announcing the annual commencement exercises of the Bellefonte High School, which will be held this year in Garman's Opera House on Thursday afternoon and evening, May 28. There are eleven graduates in the class and the exercises promise to be very interesting.

The result of the examinations show that the first and second honors were won by Miss Anna Blanche Underwood of Bellefonte and Miss Elizabeth Blackburn Orris of Milesburg, respectively. This adds another year to the list of commencements that the honors have been taken by the young ladies of the different classes.

Those who will graduate are Misses Anna Blanche Underwood, Elizabeth Blackburn Orris, Katharine Hunter Benner, Mary R. Lambert, Mabel Fauble, Frieda Baum and L. Myrte Longacre and Messrs. James G. Wright, J. Willis Knox, Thomas Brew Hamilton and Willis Alden Ishler.

The class is indeed an honor to the Bellefonte High School and also to Bellefonte and Milesburg. They are representative young ladies and gentlemen and will some day make their mark in the world. To them we extend our heartiest congratulations and wish them every success possible not only on their graduation day but through their entire journey through life as well.

On Tuesday evening, May 26th, the annual Junior Oratorical contest will be held in the Opera House. Ten speakers will strive to win the prize, and an interesting contest may be looked for. An admission of 10 cents will be charged and it is to be hoped there will be a large crowd in attendance.

The program of the commencement exercises, both afternoon and evening, will be as follows:

2.30 p. m. Overture. Keystone Orchestra; Invocation; Music, Orchestra; Salutatory and Essay, "Nature's Harmony," Elizabeth B. Orris; Oration, "Duties of Educated Men," Thomas B. Hamilton; Essay, "The Tottering Throne," Mary R. Lambert; Music, Orchestra; Essay, "A Noted Family," Katharine H Benner; Oration, "Is 13 an Unlucky Number?" J. Willis Knox; Essay, "The Empire of Pennsylvania," Frieda Baum; Music, Orchestra; Essay, "The Influence of Music," L. Myrtle Longacre; Oration, "The Land of Possibilities," Willis A. Ishler; Essay, "Is Life Worth Living?" Mabel Fauble; Music, Orchestra; Oration, "Garfield," Jas. G. Wright; Essay, "On the Threshold" and Valedictory, A. Blanche Underwood; Music, Orchestra.

8 p m. Music, Orchestra; Prayer; Music, Orchestra; Commencement Address, Hon. N. C. Schaeffer, Supt. of Public Instruction; Presentation of Diplomas, D. F. Fortney, Esq., Prest. of School Board; Benediction.

The Biggest Fool at Large.

Is the individual who persistently neglects his health, and the means of preserving and restoring it. Many persons who are not constitutional idiots do this. They are genuine objects of compassion as well as censure. A failure of appetite, loss of sleep and flesh, impaired digestion, an uncertain state of the bowels and symptons of biliousness are so many warnings of the approach of disease

To disregard them is abject folly which offended nature in due time punishes severly, if not fatally. That genial and thoroughly reliable preventive of bodily mischief in the shape of chronic disease, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, will, if resorted to in time, avert these disorders, to the removal of which it is also fully adequate. Among these are chronic indigestion, liver complaint, kidney troubles, constipation, nervousness, rheumatism and malaria

Memorial Day.

Headquarters Department of Pennsylvania Grand Army of the Republic, S. W. Cor. Fifth and Chestnut Sts. Philadelphia, April, 1896.

General orders No. 17.

1. Memorial day, with its fragrant flowers, its sweet music and its sad memories is approaching, when soldier and sailor living will pay loving tribute to soldier and sailor dead. Though the little mound may be high on hill-top, or down low in the valley, or the resting place be deep in the fathomless sea, yet shall every Comrade who has gone to the great beyond, be remembered in the sweetly solemn ceremony of our floral festal day. With flags and flowers and music shall we greet them again, and again shall we in memory march side by side, touching elbows with our Comrades as of yore. Songs of praise swell the breeze, story of sacrifice, defeat and victory shall be told, loving hands shall strew the graves of loved ones with ivy and with myrtle, with Spring's fairest flowers and garlands,—patriots will plant on patriotic dead, the flag they loved so well, and sacred Benediction will be chanted.

"Yes! Our ranks are growing thinner with the coming of each May." Regiments of our Comrades are marching down the hill of life to the music of the rippling waters of the dark river, and ship-crews of blue jackets are sailing their last voyage, soon "eight bells will strike for them to go "off watch" forever.

"How dear to our hearts are the days when we soldiered,
As fond recollections present them to view."

But still dearer to our hearts are the remembrances of Comrades who are sleeping the dreamless sleep in the windowless palace of death."

Join the people with you in your sacred services of Memorial Day—bring church and school, man and woman, boy and girl to your ceremonies; make the impress on citizen and civic society that this day symbolizes America's greatest patriotism, and have all the people learn that they who honor the memories of the "dead who died that the Nation might live" honor themselves and their Country.

II Posts will arrange for attendance at church service on Sunday, May 24th, this is a part of our Memorial service for our dead, and should nowhere be neglected. When possible the sermon and the services for such occasion should be arranged with a view of giving patriotic lessons.

III It is recommended that the importance of the educational value to the children, of Memorial Day be not overlooked—have special effort made to impress on the school children what the day means, what our flag symbolizes, what a re-united Country cost, why we wear the badge and why we have Memorial Day. Visit the schools during the week of May 25th to 30th, tell the story of the war, and invite the children to participate with you on the 30th. Bring citizens and societies to join with you in the sacred work, and have them interested in the sentiment and in the ceremonies of our Memorial Day.

IV Where there are two or more Posts in the same locality, arrangements will be made by there Posts for a proper division of the work.

By command of Department Commander H. H. Cummings,

JAS. F. MORRISON,
Assistant Adjutant General.

It is urged that above be read in all schools before May 30th.

Doing Great Damage.

Fierce forest fires are reported raging in the Seven mountains and a great destruction of valuable timber has resulted. Flames are also rampant in the Bear Meadows, and so far all efforts to check them have proven fruitless. Already thousands of feet of timber have been burned and unless rain comes soon the loss will be enormous.

The fire, it is said, was caused by a spark from an engine on a tram road at a lumbering camp. Owing to the strong winds the flames made rapid headway and, as everything is so dry, it seems almost impossible to do anything. Within two days the fire has extended a distance of over six miles and at night the whole region appears to be a continuous chain of fire. The sight was a grand but thrilling one, and the loud crackling of burning brush and timber could be distinctly heard quite a distance away.

On Sunday night the Bear Meadows were a perfect sheet of flame. The fire is making great headway and there is no telling where it will end. Considerable anxiety is felt by lumbermen who have camps in the vicinity of the burning region and everything possible is being done to put out the fire.

—Rev Wm Stout, Wiarton, Ont., was completely cured of Scrofula after seventeen physicians had failed to give him relief. Burdock Blood Bitters did it.

TOOK A HEADER.

A Bicyclist's Narrow Escape From Death on Sunday Evening.

A fatal accident occured on the mountain near Centre Hall on Sunday, the particulars of which were received here today. A wheelman named Farrell of Shamokin fell from his wheel and went down over the side of the road and sustained injuries that may lay him up for some time to come. Fortunately no bones were broken but the young man was so badly bruised and scratched up that it was with difficulty that he reached this city where a train for home was taken to-day.

It seems that Farrell and several companions whose names could not be learned were on their way to Lock Haven and were coming down the mountain this side of Centre Hall when the accident happened. The mountain road is very steep in some places and as it was getting dark the riders had considerable difficulty to see where they were riding. Farrell was in the rear when all of a sudden his wheel struck a stone and swerved to the side of the road and Farrell was thrown headlong down over the embankment. His companions knew nothing of the accident until they heard Farrell go crashing down the bank and when they dismounted and went back they found his wheel lying along side of the road but its rider could nowhere be seen. After a short while groans were heard and the unfortunate young man was found about fifteen feet down the bank. He was partly unconscious when picked up and it took some time to bring him to. He was lodged against some bushes and but for this he would have probably been killed as he would otherwise gone clear down the steep bank.

The trip to Bellefonte was put off for the night and the boys decided to stay over at a farm house until morning. They arrived in this city in good spirits with the exception of Farrell who was very stiff and sore from his thrilling experience of the night before.

An Able Discourse

"Religion as an instinct, and Religion as a Life" was the subject upon which Rev. H. A. Grant discoursed yesterday both morning and evening to quite a large congregation. The Reverned said our religious sensibilities cannot be relied upon as a proof of scriptural regeneration. No doubt but religious sensibilities are and have been wrought upon imagine they are converted to God. "A musical sense does not make us musical, nor a religious sense make us religious." Both of these are possiblities, or rather faculties, which if carried out, will enable us to understand them as well as to poess them experimentally. After the sermon in the evening Misses Katie and Gracie Jackson, Miss Maud Pendington, the church organist and Mr. Henry Williams were received into the church as full members. The pastor as well as the congregation rejoiced in the fact that they as intelligent young people had proven their sincerity and reality to God, the church and the community. He predicted for them a useful and successful life. Mr. Henry Williams was baptized by the mode of sprinkling.

Sad Death at Beech Creek.

A sudden death was that of Danie Leyden at his late home at Beech Creek, at 7 o'clock on Friday evening of heart disease.

The family had been cleaning house during the day and were still at work in the evening. Mr. Leyden, about the above stated time, was standing on the front porch when without a moment's warning he fell forward on his face. His son seeing him fall quickly ran out and picked him up. It was too late, however, and in a few seconds his father was dead.

The deceased was aged about 73 years and was well known throughout the county. His sudden demise will cause genuine sorrow to his many friends and acquaintances. He was especially well known in this city. He was a foundryman by trade and at one time conducted a large foundry in Bellefonte. During the later years of his life he had been an agricultural agent at which business he was very successful.

Three sons and one daughter are left to mourn his death. They are: James A., a captain in the United States Army; Harry R., Edward G. and Mrs. W.S. Elliot, of Pittsburg. His wife preceeded him to the grave several years ago.

The funeral will be held on Monday afternoon. Interment will be made in the Union cemetery in this city, immediately after the arrival of the 5.12 train.

For Register of Centre County. J. E. Rickard, of Rush Twp., is a candidate, subject to the decision of the Republican county convention. Mr. Rickard, is a young republican, who has done much valuable work for the party, he is bright and capable, and if elected as, he will be, if nominated he will make one of the best officers, in the registers office, this county has ever had. That he will be nominated we entertain no doubt, as he makes a very favorable impression wherever he goes.

Mr. Rickard was in Bellefonte, last Wednesday and was cordially received by his many friends here. We wish him complete success.

—Mrs. Thomas A. Shoemaker gave a delightful tea to a number of her friends at her cozy home on Wednesday evening.

A SNEAK THIEF.

Stole a Watch and Clock, But Failed to Escape with Them

The Tyrone Herald says: A man who gave his name as "Bill McGlenn, from Bellefonte." to some people, "Kennedy," to others, and to the authorities as John Summers, was arrested in the railroad yard about 5 o'clock this morning, by Officer Curtin. He had been in town the past two or three days pretending to follow the business of awning repairer, but evidently preferred to steal for a living. Yesterday afternoon between 3 and 4 o'clock he sneaked into the Central Hotel of C. M. Wapel on Pennsylvania avenue, worked his way to the second floor and forced open the doors of two or three bed rooms. In that of Milton Swan, a plumber, he stole a gold watch, and from Mr. and Mrs. Wapel's room he took a small clock. From Tom O. Symington's room he took a lot of matches, cigars, neckties, handkerchiefs, etc.

Summers managed to escape with the booty, but the goods were missed a little later, and Mrs. Waple having noticed him about the house described his appearance to the police officers of the town, all of whom were on the watch for him during the night.

When arrested this morning by Officer Curtin he attempted to throw the watch under a car, but the officer detected him in the act, and put the time piece in his own pocket.

The thief was placed in the lockup until later in the morning, when he was given a hearing before Justice Taylor, before whom he submitted to the charge of theft, surrendered the stolen goods, and was taken to jail at Hollidaysburg on the Way Passenger train by Officer Curtin.

Death of Clara Dale.

Clara Dale, daughter of George Dale of near Lemont, died on Monday morning at Atlantic City. She had been in Philadelphia for several weeks for medical treatment, and upon advice of her physician she had gone to Atlantic City in hopes that the ocean breeze might benefit her. Her father had been telegraphed for and was at her death bed when she died. The body was brought home on this morning's train. The deceased was well known in Bellefonte and her many friends will be pained to hear of her death.

Penns Valley.

John Durst son of Philip Durst of near Centre Hall, met with a very serious accident on Thursday last. He was engaged in hauling baled hay with a team of four horses, and while walking down a hill in the neighborhood of Allison saw mill a short distance from Spring Mills he stumbled and fell, and the front wheel of the wagon passing over his arm lacerated it in a shocking manner, and he also received a terriable wound in his head. His condition is said to be critical. He is about 25 years of age.

Arthur Kerlin of Centre Hall, seems to be all the time on the road. He is the most extensive dealer o eggs in this valley.

The Millheim Telephone Co. are having the poles put in position, and are making rapid progress. This company means business.

W. T. Leathers and son of Mt. Eagle, have been doing considerable painting through the valley. They are first rate men and thoroughly understand their business.

Leyman of Boggs township Democratic candidate for the nomination for Sheriff was through the valley last week. Mr. L. has quite a large number of friends in this section. Meyers of Harris, Democratic candidate for the nomination for commissioner, was also around. The Prof. is quite popular in Penns Valley, both politically and musically—he can sing. C. A. Weaver also of Haines township, Democratic candidate for the nomination for treasurer, frequently rides through the valley on a bicycle.

I noticed that all the Republican candidates for the position of treasurer, are most too far advanced in years to indulge in the "bike" excepting C. P. Long of Gregg township. Now if Weaver should be nominated by the Democrats and Long by the Republicans they would both be a "holy terror" tearing through the valley and electionering. No one would venture on the pike while either were there.

At present there is a market for potatoes a market and that is about all, but at very trifling figures, hardly worth handling. The people of our valley are indebted to merchant C. P. Long of Spring Mills for moving over 13000 bushels of their potatoes last fall, at prices raging from 22 cts. to 26 cts. Mr. Long engaged very heavily in the tubers last season. I learned that he purchased over 25000 bushels, and disposed of them all excepting about 150 bushels.

Commercial agents are again on the move, if one can say they ever stop. They report business as below the normal.

We can breathe a little more freely now, the recent showers have quenched the mountain fires.

The Great Robinson and Franklin Bros.' Shows Combined.

Never in the history of tented amusements has the world known so vast an enterprise as the one made by the combining of these two great institutions. It has brought the circus field into a new era and placed circus exhibitions upon a basis that has never before even been attempted. Two separate and distinct representative circus companies, culled from the best that the world affords, have been joined together. Two massive menageries have been blended into one and the two magnificent parades have been so arranged that a double parade is given daily in the cities where these combined shows are to exhibit.

It requires the largest tents that have ever been constructed to accommodate this big amusement institution, and so enormous have been the crowds attending that it has been necessary to augment the seating capacity, for it is not the policy of these shows to so limit their seating capacity as to make those who desire to see and enjoy the wonderful performances procure reserved seats, and while there have been reserved opera chairs placed around the arena for the accommodation of those desiring them, fully eight-tenths of the seats are free to the patrons.

Their day of exhibition in Bellefonte is Wednesday, May 27, and it will surely be a gala day.
